Twenty-five years ago, on September 14, 1938, the first classes were held in the Laboratory Training School. There were 479 students in kindergarten through twelfth grade, 166 were in the Academy or high school. Dr. Kent Pease was the principal of the Academy, and Miss Bessie Cooper and Miss Katherine Thompson were the grade school principals.

The new building was designed to harmonize with the other buildings on the campus. It was built of brick and stone with English-Georgian influence differing from the present building in that the gym had not been built.

Inside, the general room plan was much the same as today with only a few differences. The old gymnasium is the present music room and little gym. The music room was located in the third floor in what is now the homemaking room. Originally that room had been planned as a high school social room. The biology room was part of the chemistry-physics lecture room and laboratory. On the second floor across from the auditorium was a museum which contained Indian relics and shell and rock collections. Now it is used as a storage room for the theatre.

If the building has changed little, the traditions of Western have changed less. Then, just as today, the grade school children marched through the building in a Halloween parade; seniors still take a class trip (in 1939 they went to Chicago for three days); and there is still a spring band concert. There was a Penny Carnival twenty-five years ago, too; but it was sponsored by the Girl's League instead of the junior class. Both this year and twenty-five years ago there was an exchange assembly with Macomb High which featured the choruses and a trio upon both occasions.

The Student Council sponsored a Halloween dance, a Christmas dance, and noon hour recreation. They, like the 1963-1964 Council, encouraged good citizenship.

The Rostrum sponsored literary, musical, and speech contests. Its advisor was a chemistry teacher, Mr. Horrabin. Other organizations were G.A.A., debate, the Kommercial Klub, the Klicking Kamera Klub, and the Alambris Society, a chemistry club.

The Masquers presented The Three-Cornered Moon on February 15, 1939. The Palette and Brush Club helped construct the sets, and the band provided music.

At a music contest in Peoria on March 31, the band was rated second and the orchestra received a first. At Eastertime the Girl's League took an Easter basket to the children at the Macomb orphanage.

Western had a football team, a basketball team, which ranked second in the county league, and a baseball team. At a district track meet, the Academy ranked fourth out of forty-four schools.

A graduation reception was held on June 3, followed by Baccalaureate on June 4 and Commencement on June 5.

Some faculty members have taught at Western since the building was first opened. Miss Marjorie Burke and Mrs. Elna Scott Nail have both been here for twenty-five years. Miss Velna Sollars, now the Dean of Girls, did not teach at the Academy but she did work for the college as assistant registrar. Mr. H. Waldo Horrabin taught chemistry until this year when he gave up teaching to devote all of his time to his duties as principal.

On the division pages of this Epilogue we have used both old and new photographs to contrast 1939 and 1964. We hope that you will enjoy the comparison of the two years as we look forward to the next quarter century of growth and progress at Western.

Say not that the past is dead.
Though the Autumn leaves are shed,...
Lives the life that once has been;
With a silent power still Guiding heart or brain or will ...

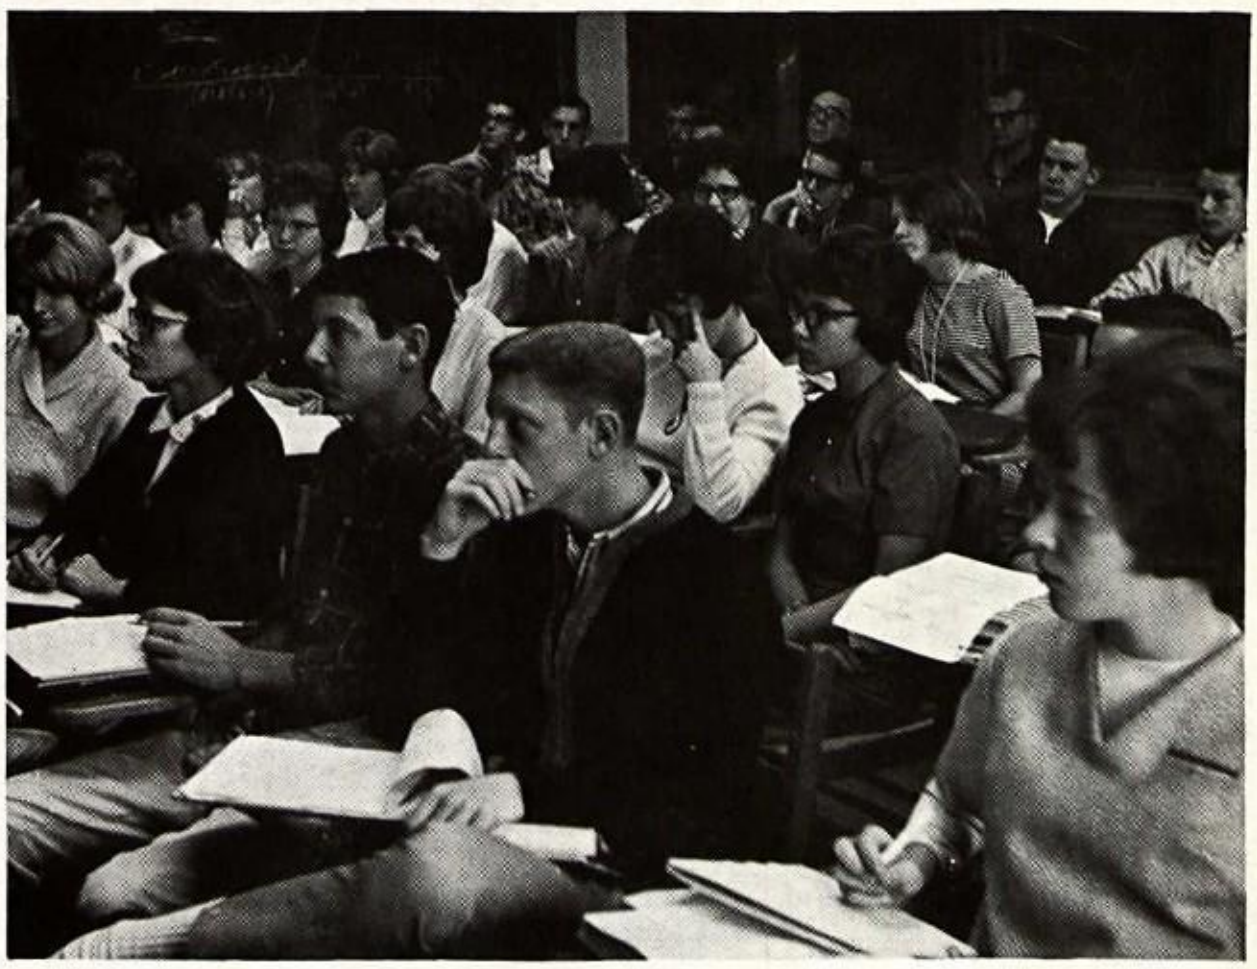
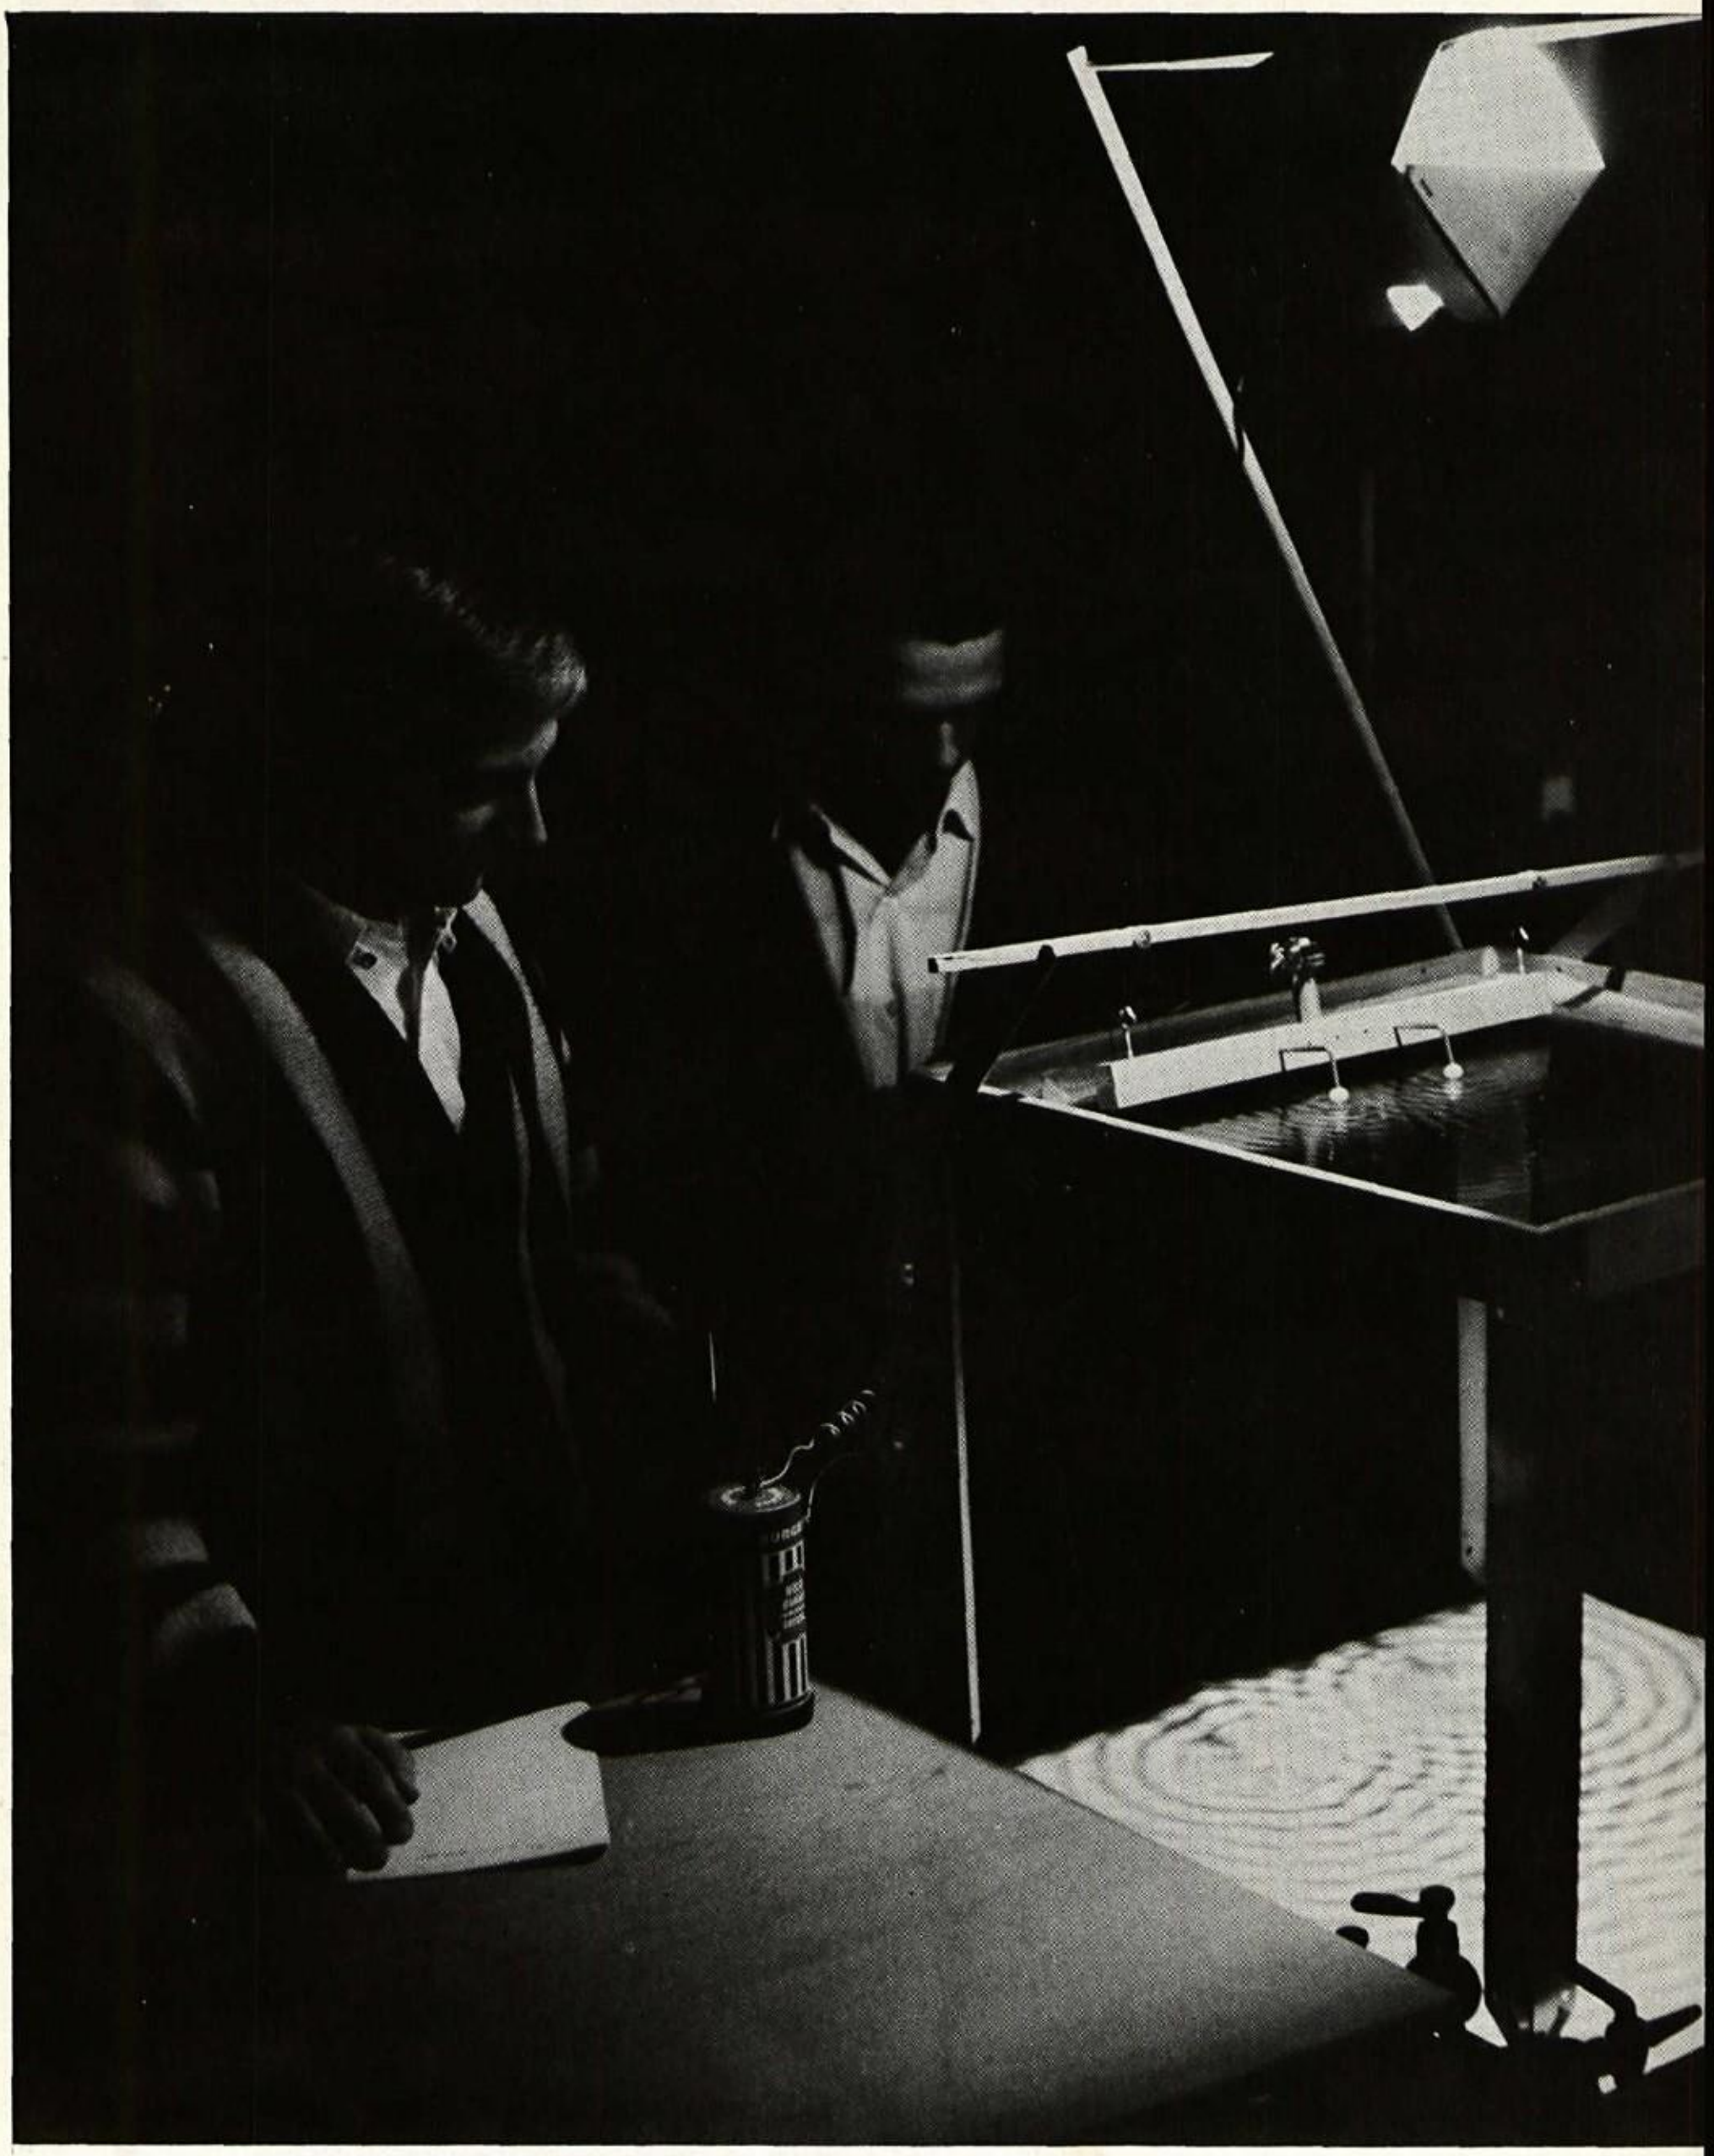
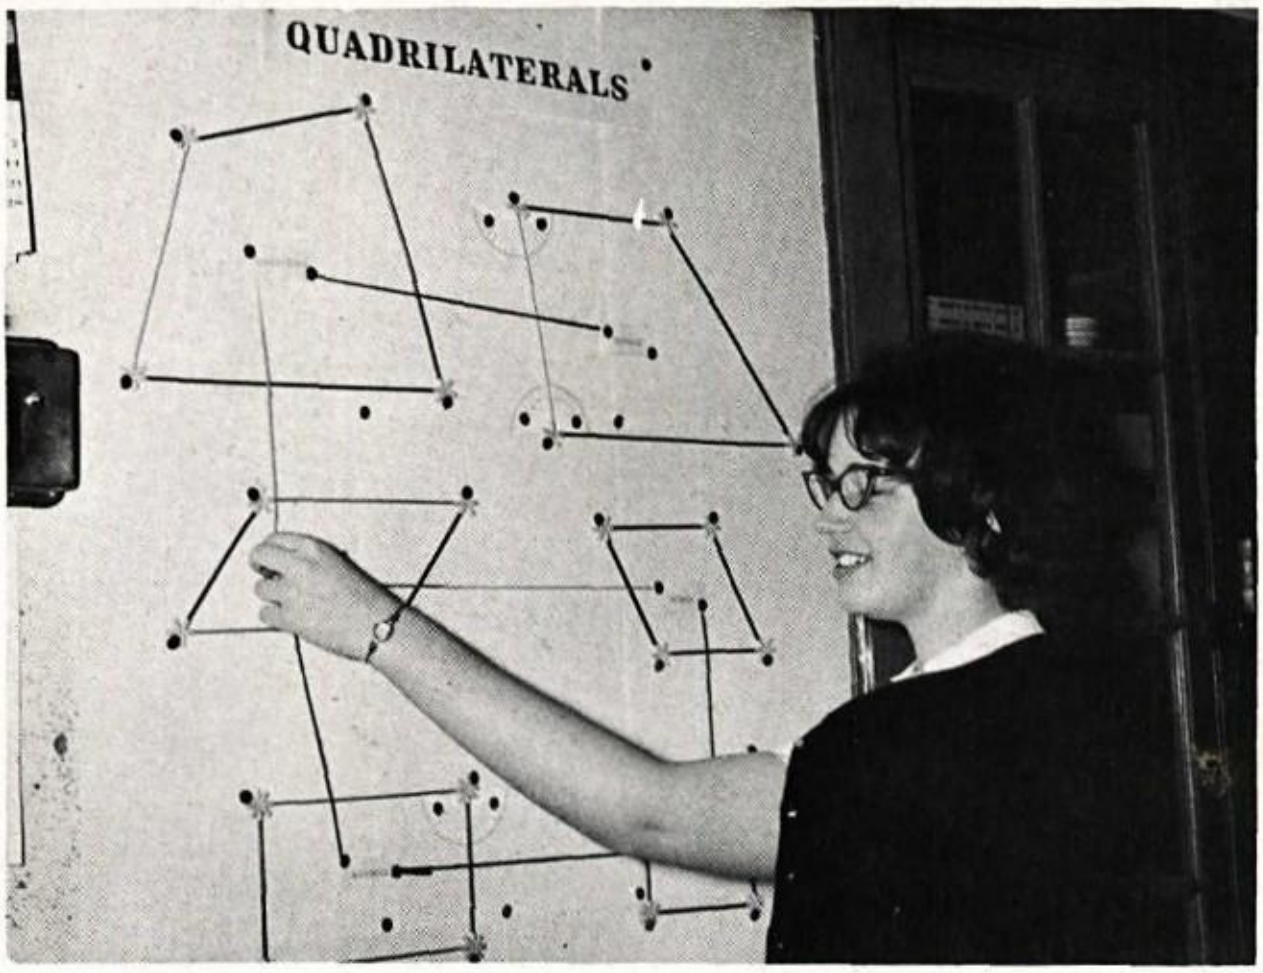
academics

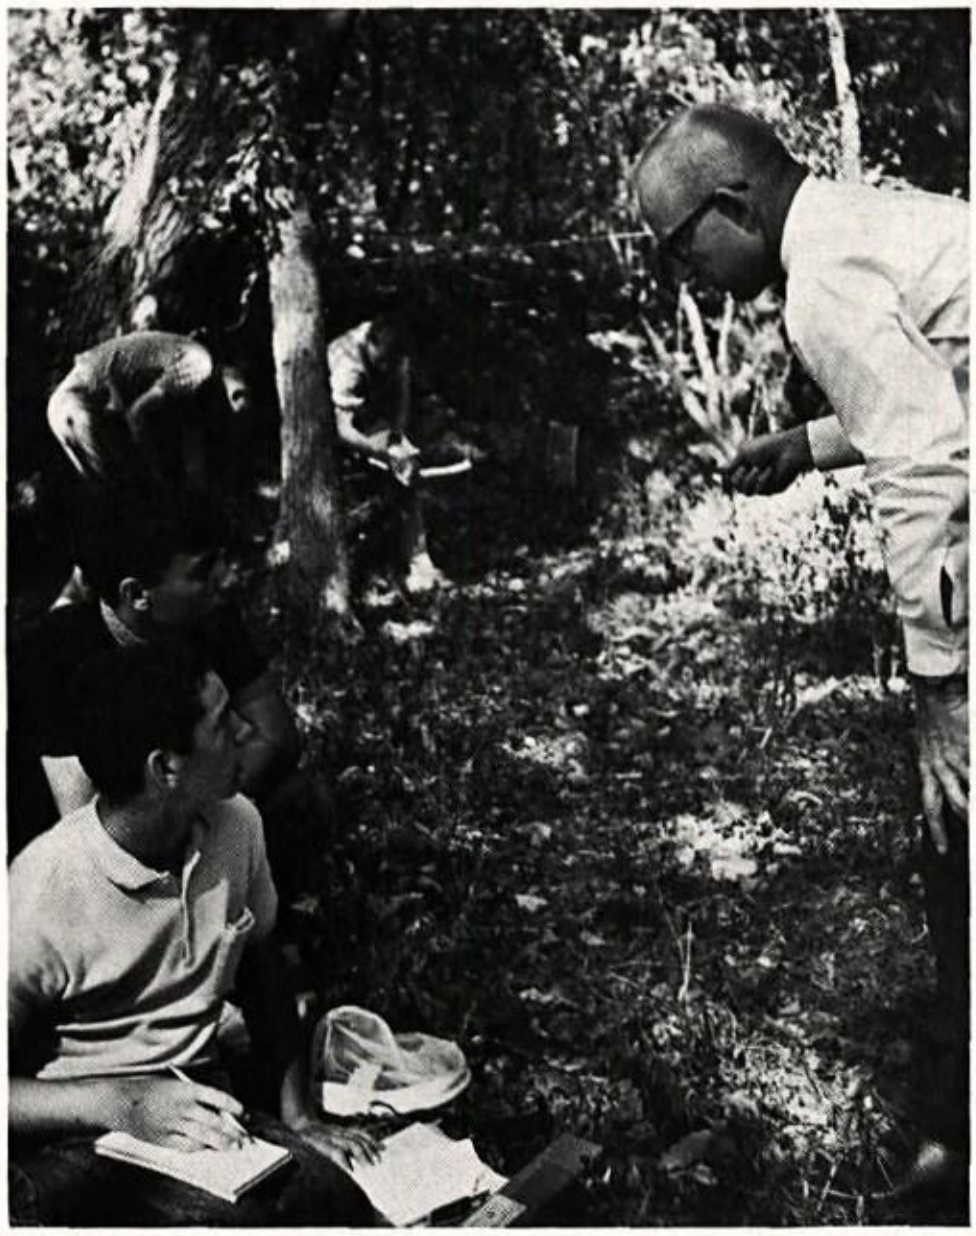




Through experiments, physics students observed natural laws.



Visual aids helped the mathematics classes to understand geometric figures.



On field trips the biology class observed wildlife in its natural setting.

English classes evaluated book reports.

The study of Latin gave students a richer background in classical language.

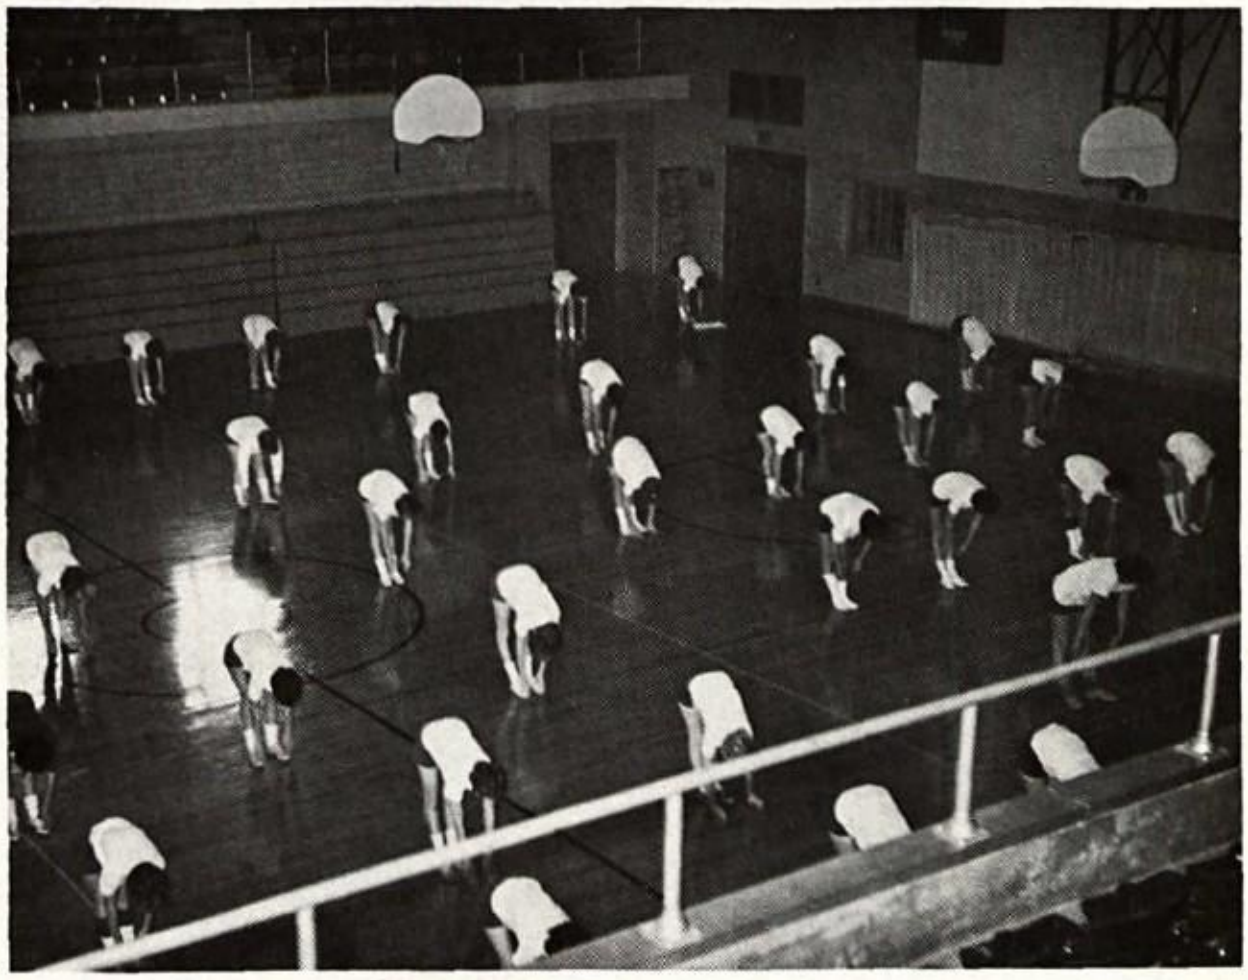
Students learned to converse in Spanish.

In home economics the study of cooking, sewing and family relations prepared the girls for later life.

In varied media art students captured their impressions of life.

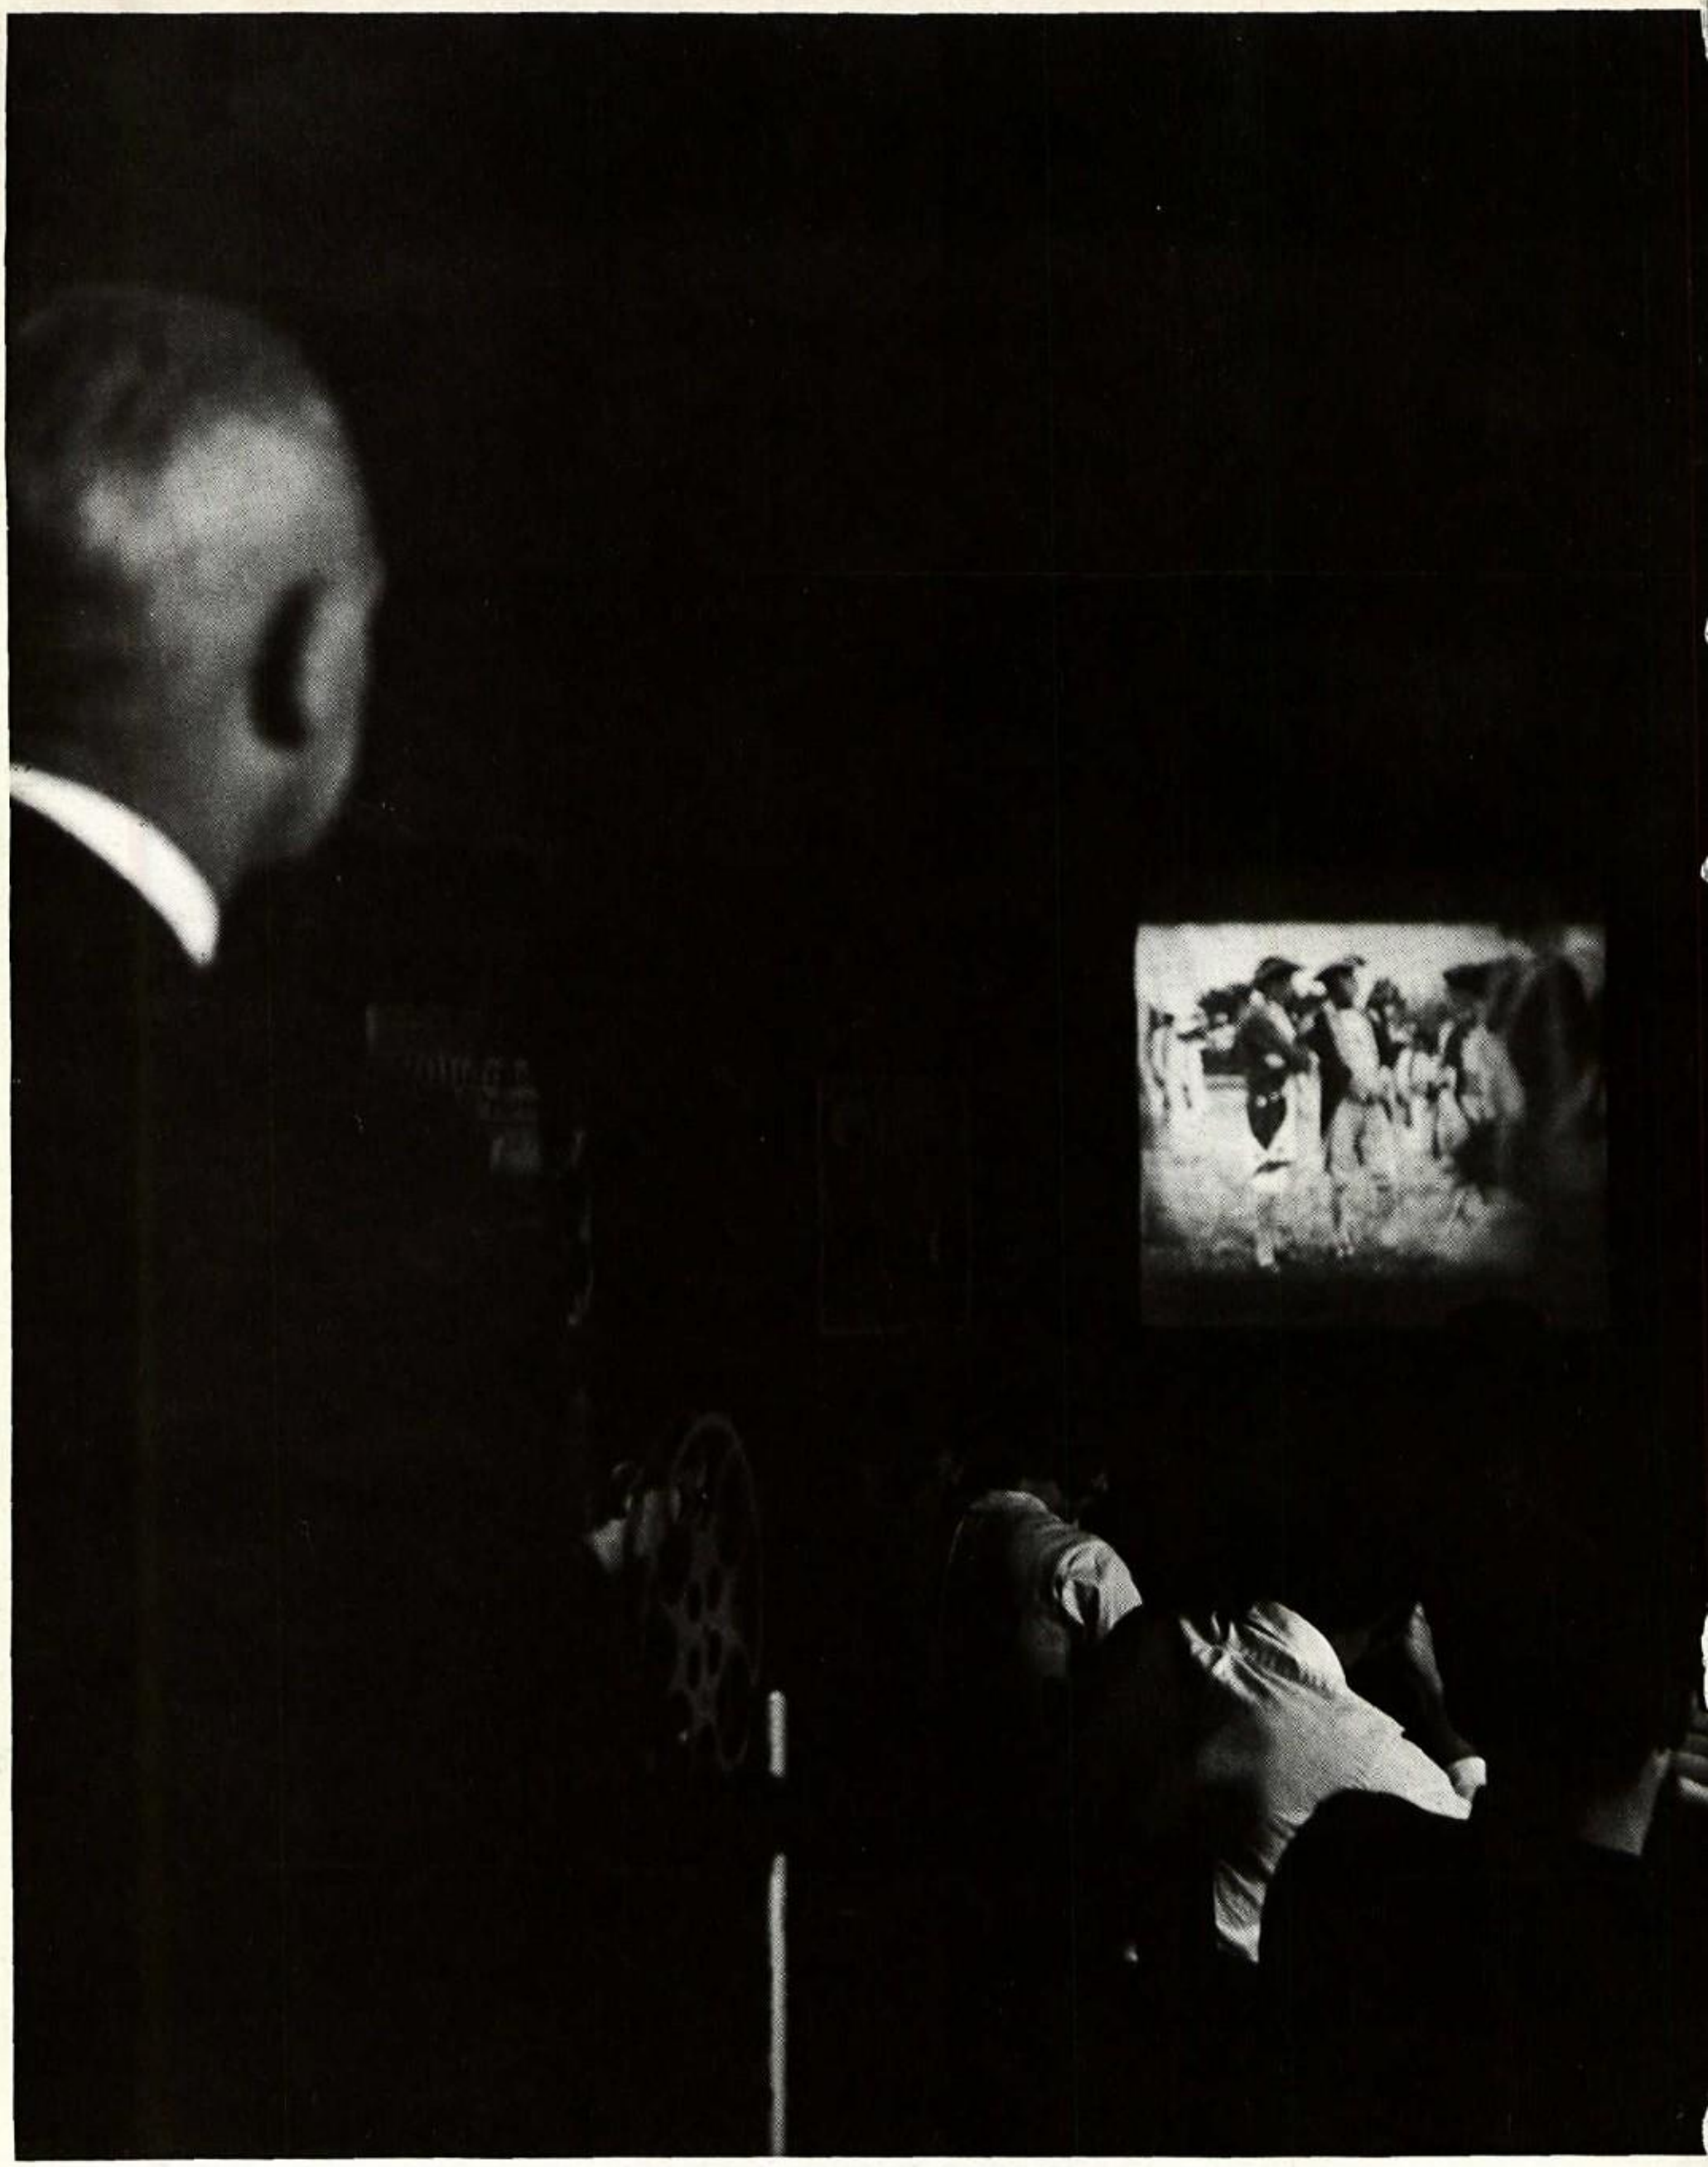
Every shoelace was tied before the band paraded.

Through practical experience students learned the "rules of the road."



"Touch down every morning." Physical education classes followed a program of daily exercise.

Students became skilled in numerous fields of industrial arts.



Films augmented books, lectures, and reports in history class.

Students found learning shorthand like learning a new language.

Earth science and geography classes learned to read the language of maps.

student life

Audre Harris, Cathy Sypherd, John Watson, Dr. Wiggins, Candy Strong, David Viar, Mike Glaza, and Karen Olsen discussed the purposes and goals of the National Honor Society.

Honors at Western extended into many different areas. Western High students spent the year working on classwork and projects which brought distinction to the school.

Three seniors, Karen Olsen, Audre Harris, and Mike Glaza, received letters of recommendation as a result of their scores on the National Merit Scholarship test. The National Honor Society, composed of students who, after meeting scholastic and personal requirements, were elected by the faculty, spent the year organizing new ideas such as plans for an honor study hall. Members chose John Watson, president, Candy Strong, vice-president, Lois Griesenbrock, secretary, and Audre Harris, treasurer. Other members included Mike Glaza, Karen Olsen, Cathy Sypherd, David Viar, and Diana Wilson.

Elections played an important part in school activities. During the year six persons were elected as outstanding personalities of the school: Cheryl Bain, Candy Strong, Lynn Doolen, Mike Barsi, Jim Henderson, and Joe McLaughlin. Later, the Junior class chose Candy Strong and Tim Logsdon to reign over the Junior-Senior Prom.

Honors came to the school in the selection of good citizens. The faculty, after recommendation by the student government, chose Audre Harris and John Watson as outstanding citizens. Audre Harris and David Viar accepted the D.A.R. award and S.A.R. award given annually on the basis of leadership, courage, service, and scholarship.

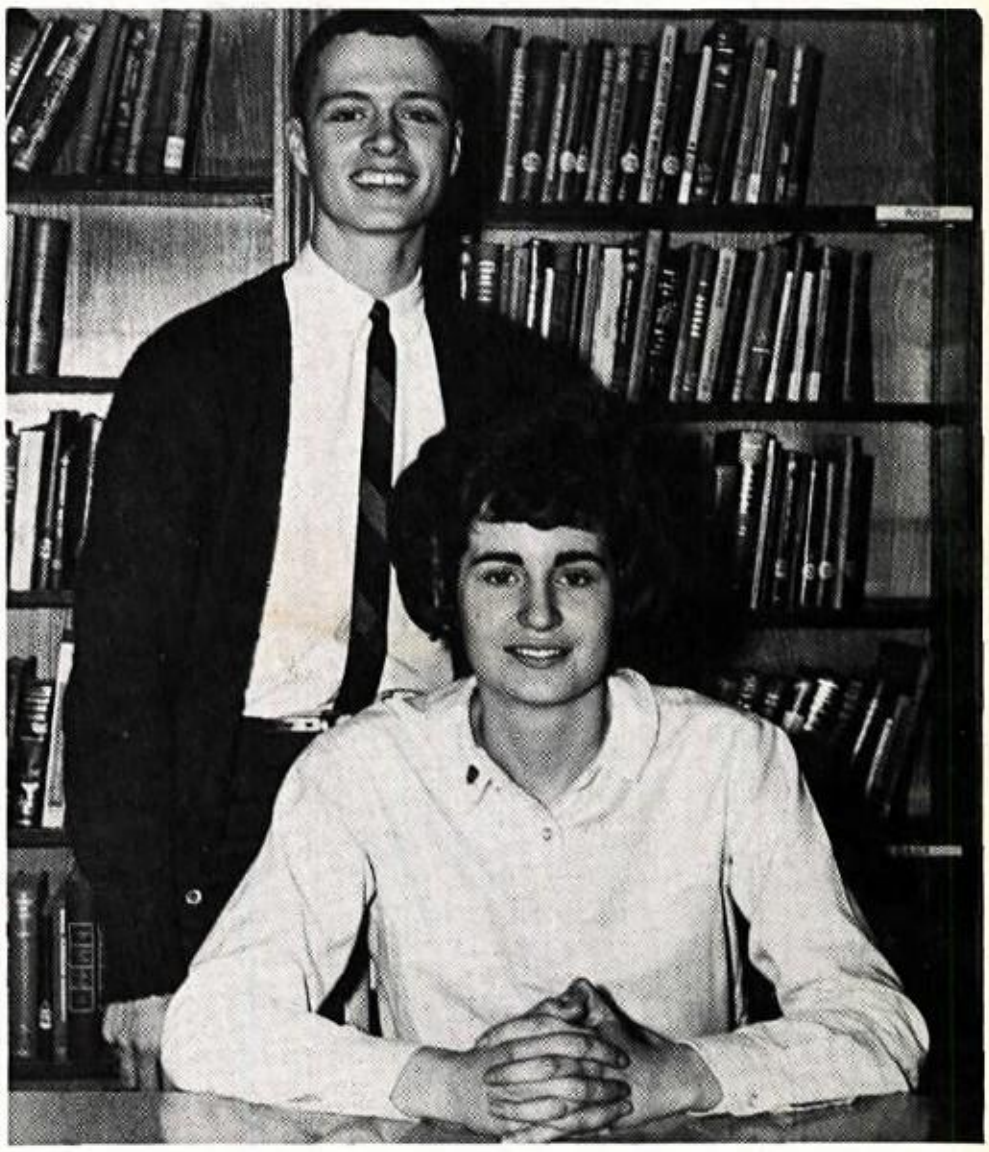
Lois Griesenbrock received the Betty Crocker award of Homemaker of Tomorrow. This award is based on a score earned on an achievement test. John Watson was chosen as the alternate to the appointee to the Air Force Academy. Chosen as runner-up to the Region 7 representative to Washington was Randy Perry, an Eagle Scout. He traveled to Springfield to present Governor Otto Kerner with an award in scouting and to report on the Boy Scout activities within the state.

During the summer of 1963 several local organizations sponsored students in a variety of activities. Audre Harris attended Girl's State at MacMurray College, Jacksonville and Jim Henderson, Dan Crabb, and Allen Black served as delegates to Boy's State in Springfield. Sara Dobson was awarded the honor of having her essay entered in the district competition of the American Legion Auxiliary. Lois Griesenbrock was selected by the Altrusa Club to represent Western at the Youth World Conference in Carbondale.

The winners of scholarships were announced throughout the spring and summer. At the annual Honors Night held in late May, many students were announced as award winners in various fields of study.

Enjoying the early spring sun were the school personalities, Joe McLaughlin, Candy Strong, Mike Barsi, Lynn Doolen, Jim Henderson, and Cheryl Bain.

MANY HONORS EARNED BY STUDENTS



David Viar and Audre Harris were named the SAR and DAR good citizenship award winners.

Seated: Agustino Atienza, Mr. Horrabin, Carmen Cantú.
Standing: Lewis Westover, Katy Mead, Linda Covert, Leanna Loomer.

During the winter quarter Carmen Cantu of Pueblo, Mexico, arrived to spend six months in Macomb. While she attended Western High, Carmen stayed with the Meads, the Coverts, and the Loomers. Tito Atienza, who stayed with Lewis Westover, became a member of the sophomore class. His mother was a visiting lecturer at Western Illinois University.

"THAT WAS THE YEAR THAT WAS"

The year of 1963-1964 found an active Student Council at Western High School. The Student Council was guided by Jim Henderson as president, Mike Glaza as vice-president, Mary Chatterton as secretary, and Jeff Hicken as treasurer.

The council demonstrated leadership by sponsoring such activities as Homecoming, the March of Dimes, the continuance of the Inter-School Student Council with Macomb High School, an exchange student program with the University High School of Urbana, and various other important events.

The council conducted many elections, including those for cheerleaders, Homecoming royalty, student personalities, and for the officers and representatives for next year's Student Council. The Council also sponsored delegates to the District Student Council Convention and to the State Convention in Chicago.

Serving as representatives this year were Audre Harris, Jim Henderson, and Mike Glaza, seniors; Jerry Quintiliani, Lynn Doolen, and Jeff Hicken, juniors; Mary Chatterton, Steve Larson, and Ruth Krong, sophomores; and Dick Shelton, Debby Nicholson, and John Bolton, freshmen. Junior High School members were Randy Stiffler and Kristine Kowal.

Cindy Elsesser, an exchange student from Urbana, spent a week with Muriel Knoblauch. Later, Muriel visited Cindy and attended classes at University High School, Urbana.

WE

WHS CELEBRATED HOMECOMING VICTORY

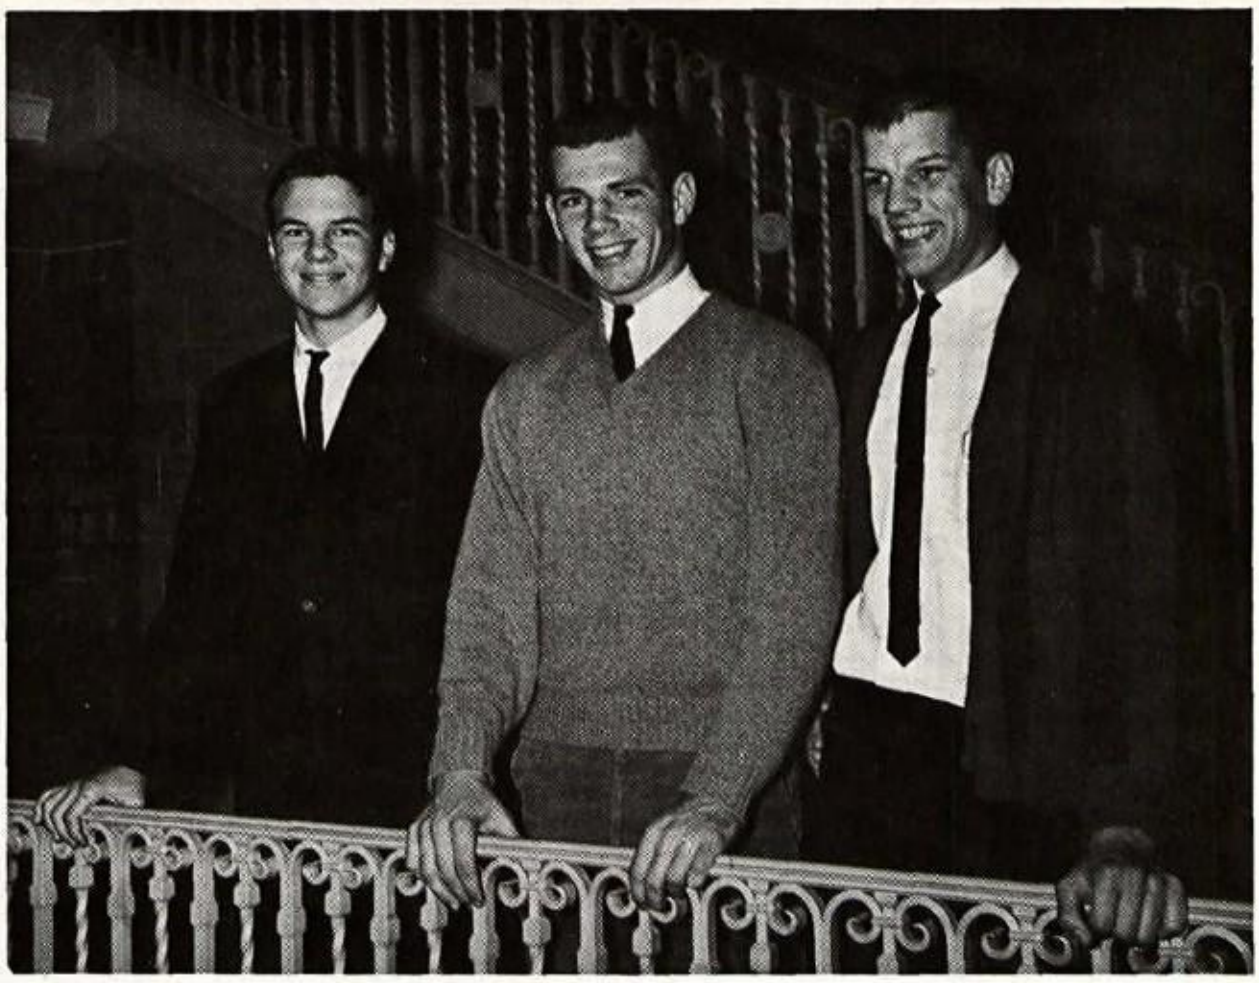
This year for the first time Western High held its homecoming in one day. The activities began with an assembly in the morning. The program opened with the announcement of the homecoming royalty. Mrs. Jack Stites, a member of the class of 1944, was the guest speaker. Other speakers included Dean Abel, Dr. Knoblauch, Mr. Hanson, Mr. Reynolds, Mr. Horrabin, and Coach Harry Sockler.

A snake dance led by the pep band escorted the student body to the gym where a pep meeting was held. Skits were given by the different classes and organizations. That night on Hanson Field the undefeated Cardinals were victorious over the Hamilton Cardinals with a score of 60-0. A half-time show by the marching band was a feature of the evening.

Beneath the Indian Summer setting of golden leaves and pumpkins, everyone danced to the music of Chuck Orwig and his band. Midway through the dance the coronation of the king and queen took place. The king and queen of 1963, Tony Cellucci and Betty Mercer, returned to place their crowns upon the new king and queen, Candy Strong and Joe McLaughlin. Members of the court were Suzanne Butterfield, Jim Henderson, Lois Griesenbrock, Greg McGann, Janet Walton, and Ronald Riggins. After the coronation the members of the royal party danced to the queen's choice "Moon River."

Decorations brought a feeling of Indian Summer to the dance.

Jan Walton, Lois Griesenbrock, Candy Strong, and Suzanne Butterfield watched King Joe McLaughlin speak at the pep meeting.



The Boy's Union officers elected by all the boys in school were Bill Galloway, Tim Logsdon, and Mike Barsi.

The Boy's Union gave all the boys at Western High an opportunity to attend discussions of general interest. Acting as the adviser, Mr. Sockler worked with Tim Logsdon, president; Mike Barsi, vice-president; and Bill Galloway, secretary.

STUDENT GROUPS PERFORMED

Members of the Assembly Committee, which planned programs included:
Absent: Jim Ashenhurst, Mr. Paulding, Mr. Dornquast.

Seated: Candy Strong, Miss Sollars.
Front row: Ellen Garrison, Mary Gingerich, Carol Curtis, and Suzanne Butterfield.

Girl's League, one of the oldest traditions at Western High School, continued this year with Miss Sollars as the sponsor. The club met as often as needed to plan such events as the annual Mother-Daughter Banquet and the Christmas project. Extra meetings were called to hear lectures or programs. Each class elected two girls to serve in the cabinet. These girls were freshmen, Linda Curtis and Mary Gingerich; sophomores, Ellen Garrison and Susan Burrell; juniors, Dorothy Gingerich and Sarah Adair; and seniors, Marcha Graham and Janet Walton. The officers for the year were President, Candy Strong; Vice-President, Suzanne Butterfield; Secretary, Dorothy Gingerich; and Treasurer, Lois Griesenbrock.

SERVICES FOR THE SCHOOL

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS SPONSORED BOOK SALE

Students who helped Miss Mills in the library checked in books and magazines, prepared new books for use, and decorated bulletin boards. All workers were members of the Students Library Assistants Association. As a club they attended the spring regional and state library meetings. The state meeting was held on the campus of the University of Illinois. To raise money to attend the meeting, the organization sponsored a used-book sale. Some of the money was also used to finance the annual spring picnic.

Officers for this year were Lois Griesenbrock, president; Karen Olsen, vice-president; Linda Williams, secretary; and Sheryl Crane, treasurer. Karen Olsen also served as secretary-treasurer of the region.

David Stiffler, Karen Olsen, Eileen Nielsen, Miss Mills, Paula Spahr, Muriel Knoblauch, and Lynn Doolen met at the Olsen home for a group discussion.

Under the guidance of Miss Mills, high school librarian, Tri Mu completed another successful year.

Each member chose eight books he wished to read and then discussions were held once a month on Mondays.

Lord of the Flies, Travels With Charlie, Advise and Consent, Cry The Beloved Country, For Whom the Bell Tolls, Little World of Don Camillo, and Ethan Frome were a few of the most frequently chosen titles.

The Thespian club produced three plays, including The Sandbox, the contest play, and The Doctor In Spite Of Himself.

The Thespians elected new officers at their first meeting. Nancy Bergstrom was elected president, Paula Spahr, secretary, and Kathleen Peterson, treasurer.

Mr. Dornquast, the new speech and dramatics teacher, was the sponsor for the Thespian Club. Members included: Jim Ashenhurst, Carl Bergstrom, Nancy Bergstrom, Pam Carson, Melanie Dively, Cynthia Garrison, Ellen Garrison, Mike Glaza, Sue Glaza, Kay Gould, Ross Greanleaf, Jim Larson, Diane Miner, Terry Morris, Ruth Ann Nell, Debbie Nicholson, Kathleen Peterson, John Potter, Stan Randolph, Bobbie Reed, Dick Schoeninger, Dick Shelton, Paula Spahr, Ann Stevens, Stephany Stone, Candy Strong, Cathy Sypherd, Paula Swain, Sherry Watts, and Diana Wilson.

The Doctor In Spite Of Himself, an entertaining and humorous play, was presented on November 21 and 26 by the Thespians. As in the 17th century, when the play was introduced, a minimum of props and scenery was used.

The leading role in the play was portrayed by Ross Greenleaf, the doctor. Others were Carlton Conn, Richard Shelton, Jim Henderson, Jim Larson, Jim Ashenhurst, Sandy Richardson, Sheryl Crane, David Stiffler, Stephany Stone, Jane Ashenhurst. The play, a slapstick comedy, was Mr. Dornquast's first production at Western High.

Jim Ashenhurst listened to the pleadings of Ross Greenleaf, the woodcutter, as Carlton Conn and Jim Larson watched.

Carlton Conn made last minute arrangements so that Sue Glaza would be comfortable in the sandbox. Jim Henderson, the Angel of Death, waited in the background.

Edward Albee's The Sandbox was presented as the contest play. The cast numbered six: Carlton Conn as Mommy, Terry Morris as Daddy, Jim Henderson as the Angel of Death, Sue Glaza as Granny, Kay Gould as the flutist, and Carl Bergstrom as the timekeeper. The play won first place at both the district and sectional contests.

Western High won both the district and the sectional speech contest trophies. At the district contest Kathleen Peterson placed first in Poetry Reading and Karen Olsen won first place with her Comedy Reading "Winnie-the-Pooh Goes Visiting." Second place winners were Ross Greenleaf in Extempore Speaking and Cynthia Garrison with an Original Oration, "Land of Too Much Opportunity." In Oratorical Declamation Stoughton Conn read a Eulogy of Eleanor Roosevelt and placed third. Sherry Watts placed fifth in Serious Reading. Her selection was from Mary of Scotland. Bob Vanderburg's "Choosing a Profession" won fifth in After-Dinner Speaking. Stanley Randolph was entered in Radio Speaking and Pat Curtis, in Prose Reading.

Winners in the sectional contest were Kathleen Peterson and Ross Greenleaf, first place winners, Karen Olsen, second place, and Cynthia Garrison, fifth place.

The debate team held practice debates before members of the speech class and in the evening. The team competed in the Sectional Speech Contest and also debated other schools. Jim Ashenhurst, Dick Schoeninger, Mike Cortes, Jeff Hicken, Chris Potter, Dave Stiffler, Ruth Krong, and Sandy Richardson debated the proposition "Resolved: That the Social Security Benefits Should Be Extended to Include Complete Medical Care." Mr. Dornquast coached the debate squad.

Explorer Post 309 was led by Ron Wier, president; Michael Sallee, vice-president; Chris Potter, secretary; Jerry Quintiliani, treasurer; and Bob Root, quartermaster. Mr. Houck worked as the adviser and Mr. Kellogg as the associate adviser.

The troop sponsored the Scout Olympics, a sports activity which was founded by the post. As their part of the citizenship program, the troop cleaned the study hall and library on Friday nights. During Christmas vacation the boys helped the Salvation Army with its service project and enjoyed a three-day winter camp-out at Camp Pearl. One spring activity was a trip to the Quad-Cities where the boys toured a television station, an aluminum company, and the Rock Island Arsenal. Another was a father's night banquet. A camping and canoeing trip was planned for summer.

STUDENTS BELONGED TO SERVICE GROUPS

Nine Candy Stripers volunteered their services to McDonough District Hospital. As members of the Junior Auxiliary once a month they performed such services as distributing mail, delivering and watering flowers, working in the coffee shop, and feeding the patients. The Candy Stripers also made packages of games for the younger patients.

The Spotlight for 1963-64 presented a great variety of subject matter. The backbone of each issue was the editorial, written by both students and faculty members. There were also a number of regular columns: news about past graduates, faculty interviews, affairs of all the clubs and organizations, monthly horoscopes, and information about new students. The main purpose of the Spotlight was to keep the students up to date on the events occurring around them and to give individuals a chance to express themselves. The paper was the project of a majority of the senior class with Miss Buckley as sponsor. Heading the staff was Editor, Mike Glaza; Assistant Editor, Cathy Sypherd; Sports Editor, John Watson; Business Manager, Esther George.

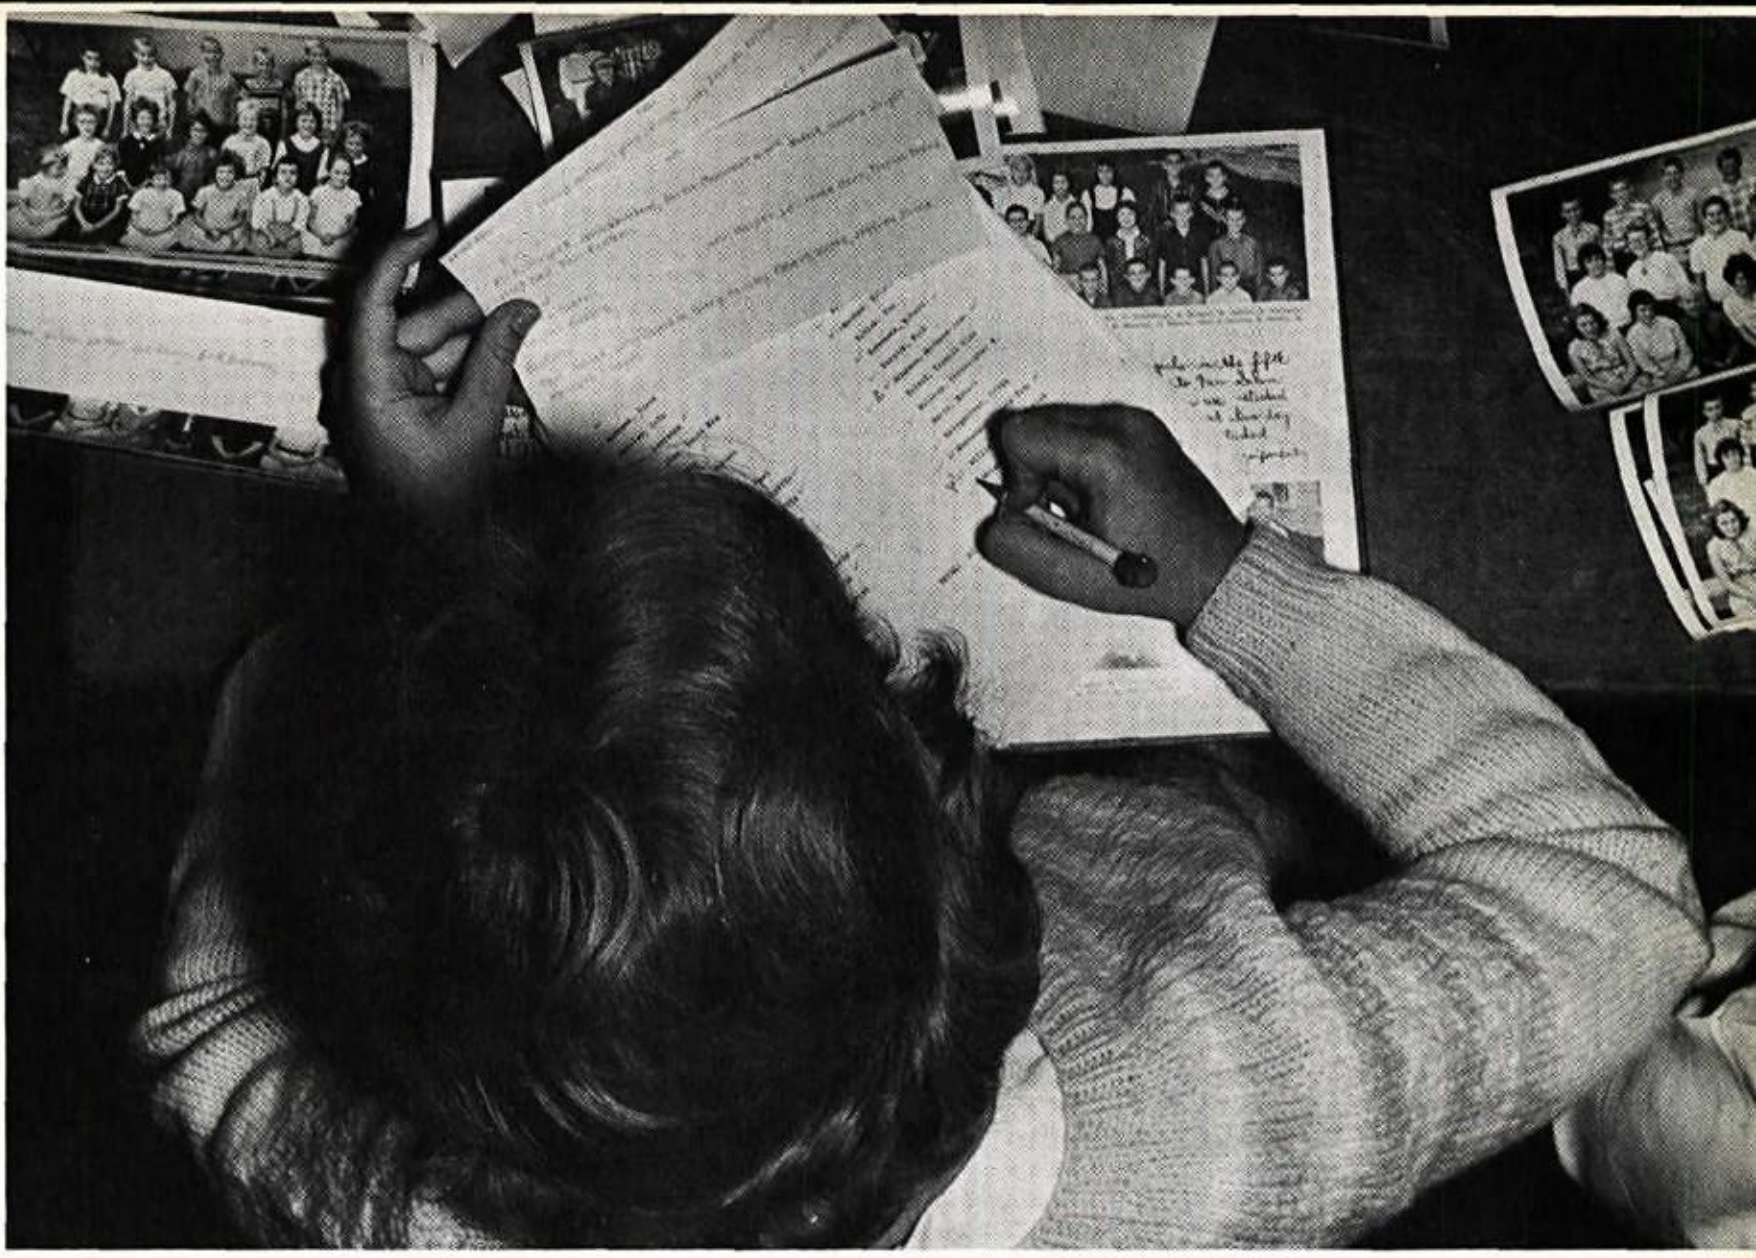
The Spotlight staff planned stories and layout for each issue.



1964 EPILOGUES DISTRIBUTED AT A SIGNING PARTY

Co-editors Audre Harris and Karen Olsen began work on the Epilogue in late August when the Junior and Senior pictures were taken. Mr. Claude Tarleton made these and all the other portraits in the book. David Goeke, a student at W.I.U., photographed and developed the candid and group pictures with the help of Mr. Don Crawford of the Audio-Visual Department at the University. When the picture-taking was underway, Copy Editor Lynn Doolen began assigning copy to members of her staff. Mrs. Connie McLaughlin and Mr. Charles Meline of the University Print Shop printed the copy. Dr. and Mrs. James L. Pate and Mr. Roy Sallee (emeritus in the Biological Sciences) contributed the old photographs and pictures which were used on the division pages.

As finished copy and pictures came in, editors began to work on their sections of the book. Editor Esther George planned the layout of the grade school pages. Classes Editor Muriel Knoblauch emphasized candid pictures of the students instead of copy. Sports Editor John Watson and assistant, Jeff Carson, selected the best action shots for the sports section. Organizations Editor Marcha Graham worked hard writing headlines for her pages. This year, Faculty Editor Sara Dobson, planned pictures of student teachers at work. At the same time, Music Editor Cathy Sypherd, was working to see if the large group pictures of the musical organizations could be a uniform size. Business Manager David Viar's big job came at the beginning of the year when he collected money for purchases of the Epilogues. While others of the staff were working on their parts of the book, Micki Head spent her time indexing the pages.

At last, the final pages had been sent to the company to be printed. Periodically, Mr. E.A. Anderson, the representative of the Intercollegiate Press, Inc. visited the staff to check on their progress.

Earlier in the year, the staff gained many fine ideas at the Illinois State Press Association Convention held at the University of Illinois. Attending the convention were Audre Harris, Karen Olsen, Lynn Doolen, Muriel Knoblauch, and David Viar. They were accompanied by Mrs. Stiffler, the Epilogue advisor.

Linda Crouse, Suzie Allen, Kathy Riggins, Paula Swain, Aline Keithley, Eileen Nielsen, Sue Glaza, Jeane Larner, Paula Barsi, Janet Walton, Sara Dobson, Suzanne Butterfield, and Debby Nicholson put up cardinals in the gym.

PEP CLUB BOOSTED SCHOOL SPIRIT

In the front row of every game this year there could be found a group of lively girls, cheering the Cardinals to victory. The newly-organized pep club was not only heard, but products of the hours of effort were also on display at the games. Large, bright Cardinals decorated the cheering section at the football games. The club brightened the stadium with signs for the homecoming game. Skits were planned for some of the pep meetings. The members were always ready with "good luck" or "congratulations" for the teams.

The officers of the pep club were Suzanne Butterfield, president; Jan Walton, vice-president; Sara Dobson, secretary; and Debby Nicholson, treasurer. Members of the club included Sara Adair, Cheryl Bain, Pam Carson, Mary Lynn Chatterton, Vae Cunningham, Connie Davenport, Melanie Dively, Carolyn Dufelmeier, Janis George, Mary Gingerich, Kay Gould, Lois Griesenbrock, Sally Hammond, Audre Harris, Micki Head, Eileen Heikes, Linda Larner, Carol Lewis, Sandy McNeil, Ruth Ann Nell, Patty Nixa, Karen Olsen, Betty Reid, Martha Roark, Cheryl Sargent, Ann Stevens, Candy Strong, Pam Sweeney, and Ginny Wyne.

In its second year the Art Club was composed of art class students and others interested in art. A meeting was held once a month where lectures, films, and field trips were included in the programs. As projects the members chose an area in which each individual was most interested. Mr. Scharfenberg sponsored the organization.

ART CLUB TOURED UNIVERSITY GALLERY

Marsha Wallen, Ruth Krong, Jane Ashenhurst, Susan Koester, Katy Mead, Mrs. Whiteman, Mary Lynn Chatterton, Susan Burrell, and Gail Grigsby elected Spanish Club officers.

This year the Spanish Club, sponsored by Mrs. Whiteman, consisted of students from all four classes in the high school who were studying Spanish. In this organization which met once a month, the activities included lectures, films, and an occasional party on holidays. The meetings were conducted in the Spanish language enabling the members to widen their vocabulary and make their speaking more fluent.

The officers for the year were President, Muriel Knoblauch; Vice-President, Mary Lynn Chatterton; Secretary, Sandy Richardson; and Treasurer, Stoughton Conn.

On a biology field trip Susan Burrell and Jeff Carson watched for teal.

In the passing of Mr. Roy Sallee the students and faculty of the Campus School lost a sincere and devoted friend. During a lifetime of service dedicated to the teaching of Biological Sciences at Western University, Mr. Sallee found time to be of help and inspiration to our young people. He enchanted many a class with his nature lectures and his field trips. He served as a nature study consultant to our outdoor education program, and he never declined an opportunity to advise and encourage our young scientists. "Roy" will be remembered for many things; his wide interests, his creative hobbies, his sound philosophy, his concern for others, and his devotion to science and to teaching. We are all fortunate that he passed our way.

H. Waldo Horrabin

President Mike Sallee led the Biology Club with the assistance of Vice-President Mike Cortes, Secretary Susan Burrell, and Treasurer Dorothy Gingerich through a successful year. The club was advised by Mr. Kellogg.

Several members entered projects in the Junior Academy of Science fair on April 11. Projects included studies of reaction time, origin of the earth, computers, behavior of plants, hematology, and geysers. In addition to taking the annual spring trip, the Biology Club invited guest speakers to meetings and sponsored an all-school assembly late in April. Mr. R.D. Malcomson, retired biology professor from Michigan, spoke on the topic "Scenes from the West."

On March 14, after the student-faculty basketball game, the Club with the FHA sponsored a "Bio Blast." This was a student-faculty party which featured games, skits, and dancing.

On a biology class field trip Mike Sallee, Connie Davenport, Sally Hammond, Jane Ashenhurst, and Janet Lee studied a tree felled by beavers.

GEOGRAPHY CLUB MET FOREIGN VISITORS

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Alexander, the Geography Club organized new activities. The highlight of these activities was the Geography Fair, held in April. Thirty-five lectures were presented about different countries by people who had lived or had traveled in these lands. At the Geography Fair, the club sponsored concessions which featured foreign food.

The first program of the year was a lecture, "Mitla and Me," by Karen Olsen, based on her summer travels in Mexico. Members of the club learned about Africa from discussions with visiting Nigerian students from W.I.U. During Christmas and spring vacations many Geography Club members made field trips to surrounding areas.

Mr. Enrique Aixamurull demonstrated a South American gourd and bombilla to Nancy Hodges, Cathy Sypherd, Vae Cunningham, Susan Koester, and Mr. Alexander.

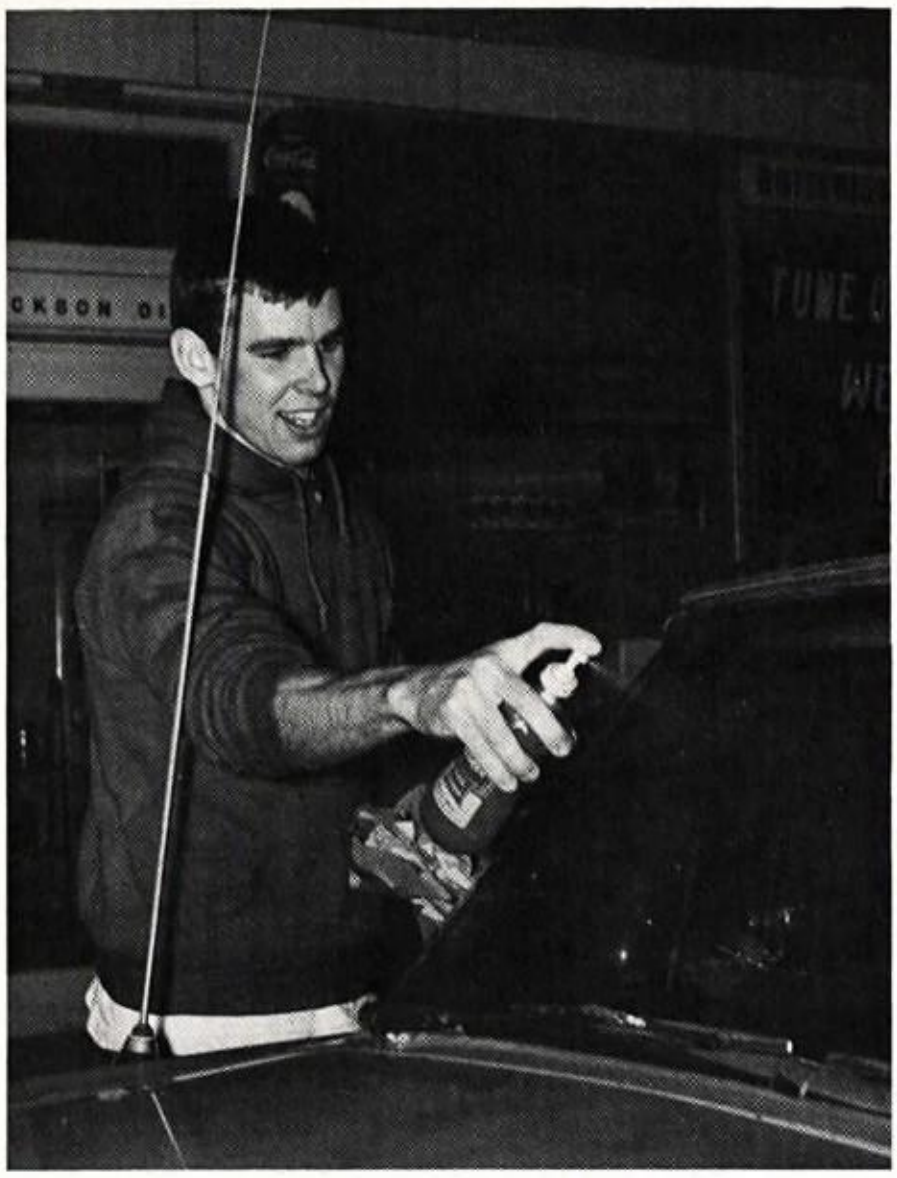
President Lois Griesenbrock assisted by Susan Burrell, Ree Huston, Sheila Wilde, Janet Walton, Suzie Allen, Sandra Richardson, Marsha Wallen, Linda Miner, and Marilyn Wallen worked on a service project.

F. H. A. members sponsored a Sweetheart Ball, a chili supper, and candy and bake sales. Several activities were centered around the theme "Education - The Building Blocks for the future", the state project of mental health, and the national goal of decreasing school drop-outs.

Eight girls were initiated into the organization on October 24, 1963. The presiding officers were President, Lois Griesenbrock; Vice-president, Betty Reid; Secretary, Susan Burrell; Treasurer, Ree Huston; Parlimentarian, Suzie Allen; Public Relations Officer, Aline Keithley; Historian, Cynthia Ambrosius; Projects Chairman, Jan Walton; Degrees Chairman, Sandy Richardson; Recreation Chairmen, Marsha Wallen and Jackie Waggoner. The sponsor, Miss Thompson, and the Chapter Mothers, Mrs. Herman Griesenbrock, Jr., and Mrs. James Allen helped the girls throughout the year.

The other members were Ginger Buchholz, Kay Gould, Sandy Leftridge, Carol Lewis, Linda Miner Sheila Wilde, and Jean Wright.

Sandra Leftridge, Marsha Wallen, and Marilyn Wallen made Christmas tray favors for the State Research Hospital.

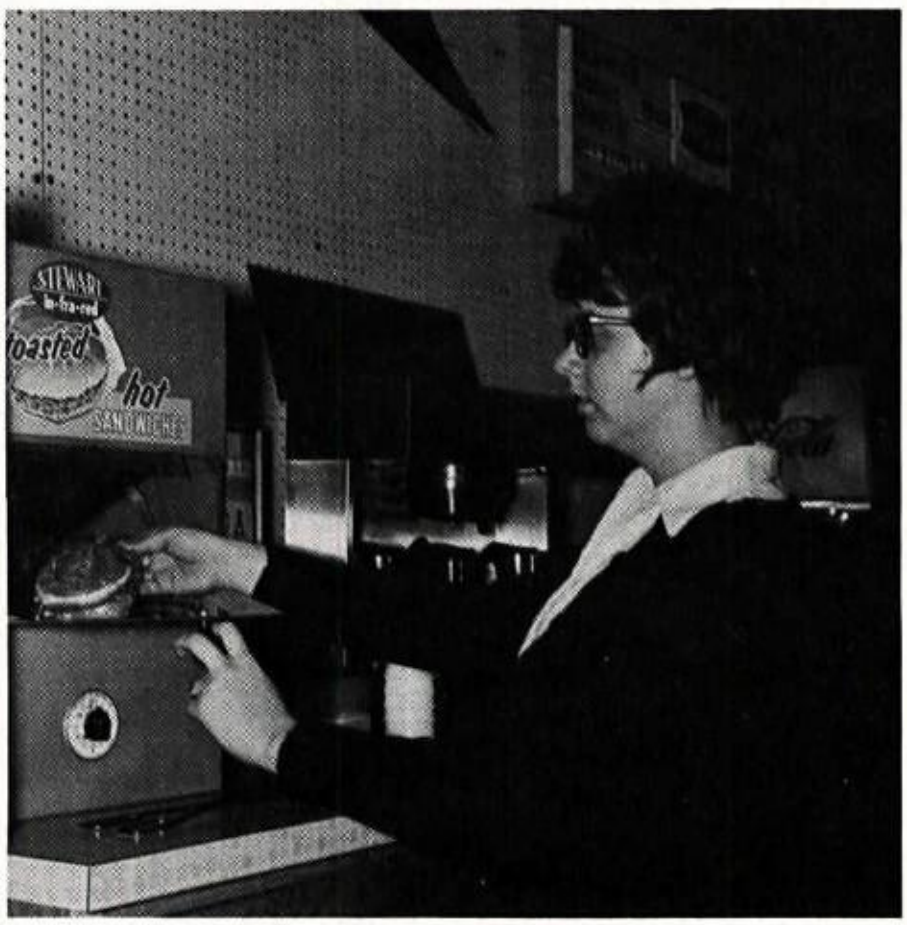


Cleaning windshields, filling tanks, and washing cars were all part of Ron Riggins' job at the filling station.

Diana Wilson checked out groceries at a local store.

STUDENTS GAINED WORK EXPERIENCE

Taking telephone orders for pizza was only one of Carol Lewis' duties as a waitress.



Waitress Sandra Leftridge found that an electronic oven made her work easier.

CASUAL CLOTHES

This year at Western, fads and fashions went in for the unusual. Even more popular than last year were the sweaters with patches on the sleeves, as worn by Mark Herbert. The black patent leather suspenders which Sandy Richardson wore were a smart accessory to her plaid A-line skirt. She also wore a black mocko-crocko coat. Sherry Watts found that knee-high boots could double for indoor and outdoor winter wear. Paula Spahr's knee socks, with a flower for decoration, were worn with her imported Italian mohair sweater.

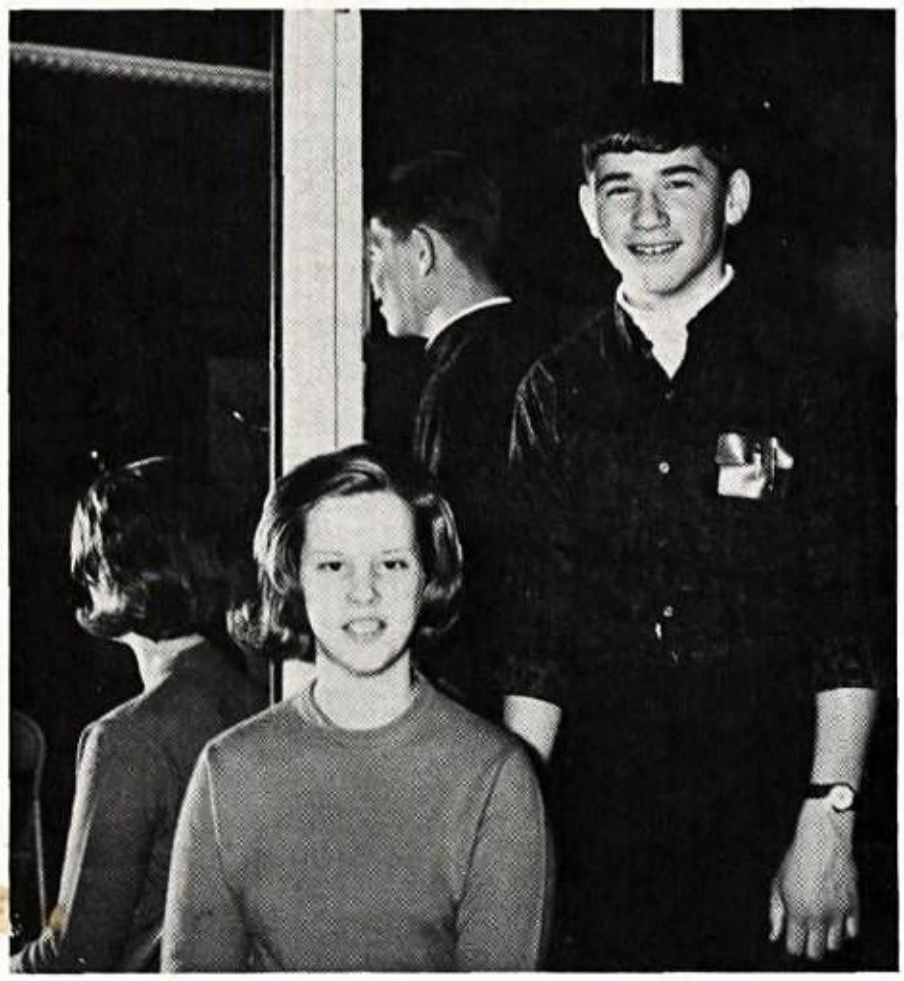
For hairdos this year, the girls chose the smooth look. Micki Head wore her hair turned under while Sherry Watts chose a flip. Boys like John Potter popularized the Ivy League haircut.

Seen often this year at football games were gaily-printed insulated jackets. Carol Curtis combined her jacket with blue stretch pants. Phil Cross' green plaid poncho was useful as a jacket. Phil also wore Italian loafers which both boys and girls found comfortable on special occasions.

Janis Griffith wore her red wool empire dress for dress-up occasions.

An overall survey showed that the casual look prevailed.

CAME TO CAMPUS



After graduation on June 2, the seniors set out for brave new worlds.

The marching band, directed by Mr. Paulding, and assisted by the majorettes and cardettes presented half-time shows at home football games. The orchestra, also directed by Mr. Paulding, first performed in the fall at a meeting of the Illinois Education Association. The senior high orchestra, the junior and senior high choruses, and several small groups participated in the Christmas concerts. The choruses were under the direction of Mr. Bohrer, a newcomer to Western. During the basketball season, the pep band played regularly.

On March 14 and April 18 Western held the A and AA class music contests. Spring brought the last big concert of the year as well as the BOCH banquet. Several small groups, such as Madrigal and Girl's Trio, performed throughout the year at clubs in Macomb, the concerts, and contest. Western was also host to the All-District music competition; several students were able to continue to the All-State festival.

The BOCH officers this year were John Watson, president; Lois Griesenbrock, vice-president; Linda Morgan, treasurer; and Cathy Sypherd, secretary. Advised by Dr. Gould, director of music, Mr. Paulding, and Mr. Bohrer, they planned the activities of the department.

CARDINALS ADDED EIGHT TO UNBEATEN RECORD

Western 19	Bushnell 12

Western 25	Menden 0
Western 60	Hamilton 0
Western 23	Lewistown 0

The 1963 football Cardinals, coached by Mr. Sockler and assisted by Bob Scott, increased their consecutive string of wins to sixteen and won the Lamoine Valley Conference crown for the eleventh time in the last twelve seasons. The 8-0 season record included a thrilling 7-6 victory over conference rival Warsaw and an impressive homecoming win over Hamilton. The Cards' offensive unit paced the team to its successful year in compiling 226 total season points. A rugged defensive team held its opponents to only 43 points.

While playing a major role in the season, the traditional Western team effort accented several individuals. Tim Logsdon, senior end, was honored as the team's Most Valuable Player and later was voted to the Little All-State team. Allen Black was selected as The Most Improved Player. Also mentioned on state teams were Seniors Dan Crabb, Jim Henderson, Greg McGann, Joe McLaughlin, and John Watson. Joe McLaughlin and John Watson served as co-captains of the team.

After the opening game defeat, the freshman-sophomore squad rolled to a 6-1 season record under Coach Valett and assisted by Steve Finn. As their record showed, the under classmen indicated symptoms of the winning ways of their older counterparts. As these young Redbirds strive to fulfill their high potential, the future of football at W.H.S. is secure.

CARDS CAPTURED FOUR TITLES

Unbeaten in both Lamoine Valley Conference and McDonough County competition, the Western High Cardinals won 22 out of 28 games. Coach Hohman scheduled the finest competition in the history of the school for the 1963-1964 season, and the rangy Western quintet held one of the finest records in Western Illinois.

The season began with an overtime victory over a strong Abingdon team, and the Cards were on the roll. The Redbirds then beat highly rated Conference foes in Dallas City and Warsaw. After suffering their first loss of the year to Canton, Western High, for the third straight year, won its Invitational Tournament, highlighted by a smashing victory over Peoria Spaulding.

With one trophy under their belt, the team emerged as last second victors over Jacksonville, and beat Monmouth, before suffering their second setback of the year to Christian Brothers.

The Cards then beat Bushnell-Prairie City for the second time and a stubborn Northwestern crew for the Championship of the County Tournament.

County and Invitational champions, the Redbirds, then set their sights on the Conference title. After victories at Hamilton and Carthage, the "Big Red" set a scoring record of 106 points against Plymouth. Mike Glaza set an individual scoring record against Colchester by pouring 43 points through the net.

The Cardinals suffered losses to Peoria Central, University High of Normal and Monmouth while preparing for tournament competition. The Cardinals journeyed to Stronghurst to win the district championship for the third straight year. The final game of the tournament, as was getting to be a habit that year, was a victory over a tough Northwestern squad.

Western High won their first game of the Regional Tournament from Abingdon, but the end of a great season came at the hands of an eventual state finalist, Galesburg.

The junior varsity gained valuable experience for future varsity competition under the capable leadership of Coaches Fred Cohen and Fred Caspall. Although the team could not boast a winning record, their steady improvement seemed to foreshadow winning ways in the near future.

Coach Hohman admired the four trophies won by the Cardinals in the 1963-1964 season. The final victory over Abingdon was his 22nd of the year and marked his 100th victory as coach at Western High.

Back row: B. Crouse, J. Peterson, G. Castle, T. Toland, P. Davenport, D. Watson.

HEAVYWEIGHTS HAD A SUCCESSFUL 12-5 RECORD

The heavyweight basketball team won six straight games before losing. They finished second in the McDonough County, first in the District, and fourth in Sectional Tournaments. The team ended the season with a record of 12 wins and 5 losses. The lightweights were coached by Bill Roper, a student teacher. They finished the season with 7 wins and 6 losses.

Second row: D. Abel, S. Wanninger, J. Dufelmeier, K. Grindstaff.

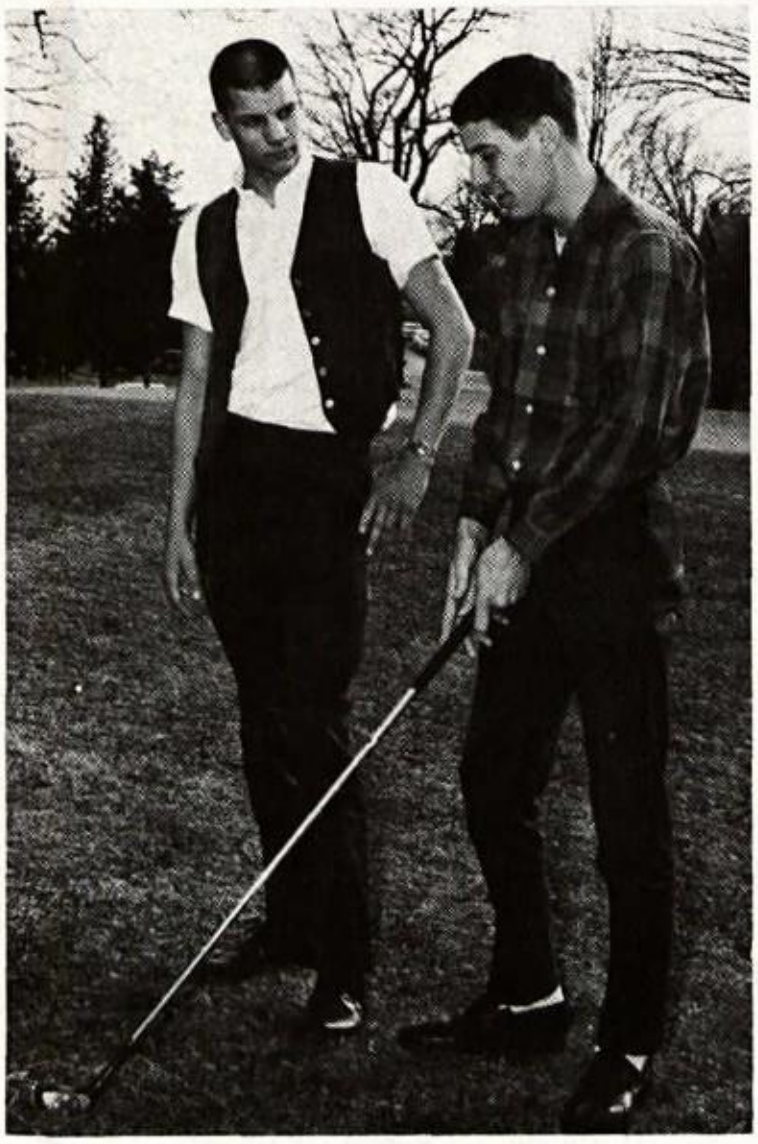
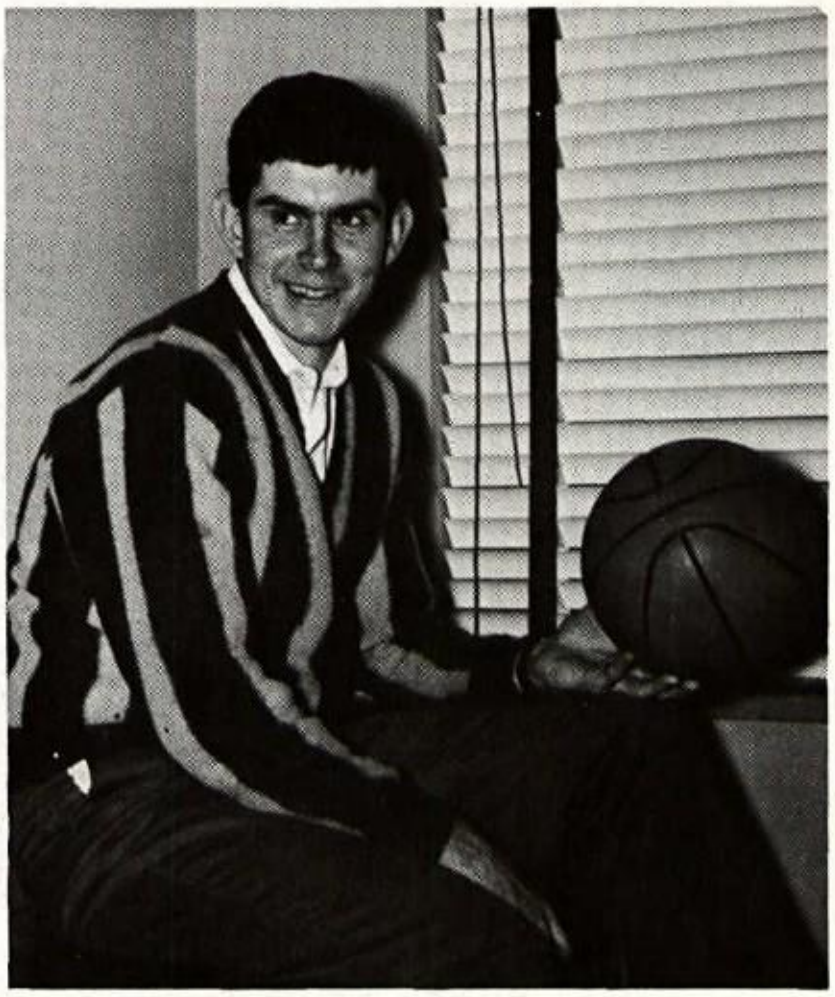
R. Quintiliani, Coach Mussatto, M. Barsi, C. Potter, S. Larson, R. Perry, and D. Stiffler paused for a photograph before the golf season began.

Although damaged by the loss of several veterans, the golf team proved its ability against such powers as Quincy, Galesburg, Monmouth, and Macomb.

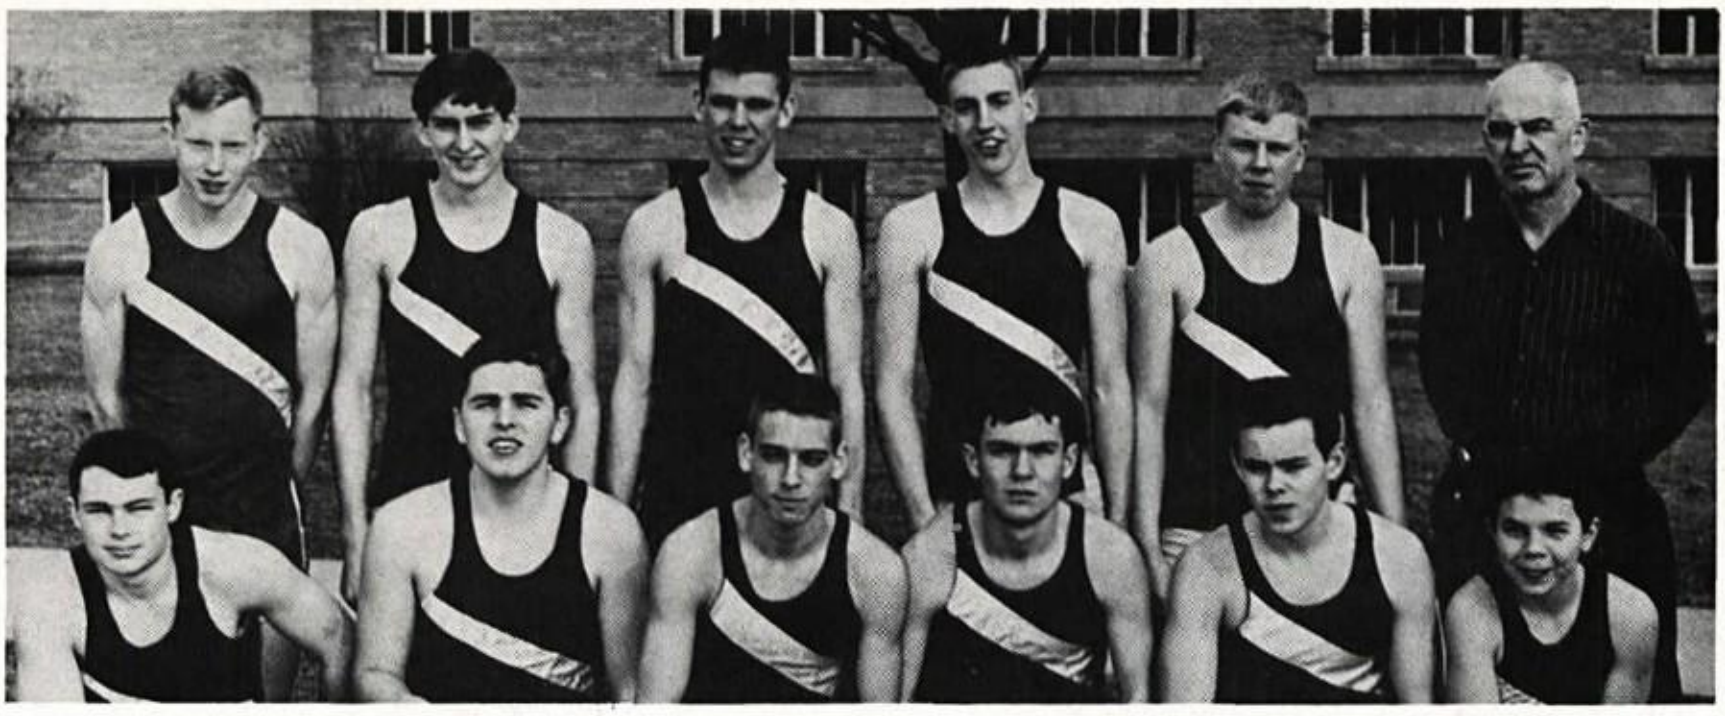
Returning from last year's squad were Mike Barsi, Chris Potter, Steve Larson, and David Stiffler. The team was coached by Mr. Mussatto.



Returning lettermen, Mike Barsi and Steve Larson, discuss Steve's new grip.



Paul Grindstaff once again served as manager for all sports. He spent a great deal of time in keeping all of the equipment in order. Paul deserves a great deal of credit for the fine job he performed.



Front Row: B. Vanderburg, A. Black, G. Carson, D. Cay, B. Jenkins, D..Brookhart.

BASEBALL, TRACK, GOLF HIGHLIGHTED SPRING SPORTS SCENE

The track team, led by Ron Riggins, Don Lansdown, and Bob Vanderburg, competed successfully in eight meets. Included were two dual meets, three relays, county, conference and district meets. During early spring while the snow was still on the ground, the track squad could be seen running out West Adams Street to Mr. Sockler's house. Then, when the sun came out, the boys began to run on the Hanson Field track. During the season this practice paid off.

The Western High Baseball Cardinals, fielding a team of veterans, strove towards the championship of the Lamoine Valley Conference. Behind the experienced pitching of Joe McLaughlin and Greg McGann, Coach Hohman's nine played well in both county and conference competition.

Initiation introduced the Class of 1964 to Western High School. As freshmen, the class began planning for a senior class trip. Miss Mills and Mr. Ralph Carter were class sponsors. John Watson led the class as president with the help of Mary Lou Dains, the vice-president, who had been a member of the class since kindergarten and who moved to Scottsdale, Arizona, at the close of her freshman year. The secretary was Audre Harris and the treasurer, Candy Strong.

During the homeroom period many activities were planned. Current events film strips were used to gain a better understanding of the world situation. The most successful money-making project was a "Roaring Twenties" dance. The freshman float won first in the homecoming parade as the most original.

During the sophomore year, the class worked hard on money-making projects. Pennants, Western High stationery, and pencils were sold. The new president, Jim Henderson, with Cathy Sypherd, vice-president, Diana Wilson, secretary, and Paula Spahr, treasurer, planned homeroom programs which included guest speakers. They spoke about the United Nations, college education, and careers.

The Penny Carnival, the Junior-Senior Prom, and the graduation reception were the main events of the junior year. Miss Allen and Mr. Scharfenberg became the class sponsors. They helped the officers, Joe McLaughlin, president; David Viar, vice-president; Pat Curtis, secretary; and Karen Olsen, treasurer.

The last year at Western High was spent working very hard to make the class trip possible. The officers were president, David Viar; vice-president, Stanley Randolph; secretary, Candy Strong; and treasurer, Lois Griesenbrock. Some of the money-making projects included: gathering advertisements for the program of the Invitational Basketball Tournament, holding a chili supper, selling mums at home - coming, selling tickets for The Doctor in Spite of Himself and being in charge of concessions at several tournaments.

After graduation, the class will look back at their years at Western and will remember the helpfulness of all of their sponsors.

The juniors found football concessions profitable.

The Class of 1965 with Mike Barsi as president had a very busy year. Linda Morgan, vice-president, Bob Vanderburg, treasurer, and Melanie Dively, secretary, served as the other class officers. Miss Gray and Mr. Harding completed their third year as class advisers.

At the beginning of the year, committees were appointed to plan bake sales, concessions, dances, homecoming, Junior Penny Carnival, and projects. Major activities included Junior Penny Carnival, Junior-Senior Prom, and arrangements for baccalaureate and the graduation reception.

In the spring, most of the juniors took the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test and the National Merit Qualifying Examination. These tests not only compared their scholastic achievement with other juniors across the nation but also gave them experience in taking college entrance tests.

The past year was filled with hard study, activities, and projects for the sophomores. In addition to the football and basketball concessions, class members managed the Geography Fair concessions. In the fall the class sold trees which were planted later in the spring. Other projects included candy bar sales and an after-game dance.

Officers, David Stiffler, president; Mike Cortes, vice-president; Patty Nixa, treasurer; and Sara Dobson, secretary, conducted the meetings of the "Class of 66" with the help of class advisors Miss Lois Thompson and Mr. James Alexander.

On initiation day the freshmen were the center of attraction in their overalls, boots, and baby bonnets. That night after the football game they presented a skit in honor of the seniors. After this activity, high school became a regular pattern, and members of the class found themselves involved in high school life.

Under the supervision of Mrs. Reed and Mr. Houck, President Mike Speer, Vice-president Allen Fritschel, Secretary Jane Miller, and Treasurer Janice George directed freshman projects.

In home room Dr. Wiggins led discussions concerning occupations after which the Kuder Preference Interest test was given. Each student then wrote as part of an English class project a research paper on the occupation of his interest.

The class sponsored concessions and bake sales to finance class activities.

Western may look with pride and satisfaction at the success and achievements of the past year. Our school has inaugurated a number of new and interesting programs which have added enrichment and challenge to our work. The traditional fine spirit of cooperation between the student body, the faculty, and the administration has contributed significantly to the success we have enjoyed. The leadership of our student council, the all-school citizenship committee and other groups has resulted in the development of constructive attitudes toward our school and the achievement of its goals. The willingness of our students to participate actively, both in the classroom and in co-curricular programs, accounts to a large degree for our success.

The role and responsibility of our school in the professional training of teachers continues to expand. We are extremely proud of our contributions to the important function of providing experiences which will help to produce teachers for the classrooms of tomorrow.

Western looks to the future with anticipation. With a new and modern building, challenging new programs, able student body, and a skillful and dedicated faculty, Western should continue to be an exciting and stimulating school. Whatever our goal for the future may be, we will not lose sight of the obligation of keeping within the school a good environment for the intellectual and social development for all our children.

The increased pressures upon high school students who plan to attend college is frequently discussed in current periodicals. Admission procedures of colleges are being re-evaluated at this time.

In today's society obtaining a well-rounded education is one of the worthwhile goals of life. This will be achieved by alert, intelligent, and determined people even though they may be unable to attend any colleges which are now on their preference lists.

Congratulations to the members of the Class of 1964. The faculty is anticipating reports of your future activities. Best Wishes to all in attendance at Western High School. This has been a year of growth and accomplishment.

Loren E. Taylor

Loren E. Taylor.

Always stand on top of a mountain and keep your eyes lifted for the grandeur of all that surrounds you. If you look down at your feet, you see only the ruts and routines of the surface of the ground. You lose your perspective.

Here in school keep an open mind. Don't get into a rut. You cannot ordinarily change situations. What you can do is adapt yourself to each new situation that confronts you.

Never think of your work here in school as something routine. The more real thinking you do, the more helpful your studies will be. Try to develop a curiosity about the courses you are taking. Every course has some relationship to every other course. It is the person who can see relationships who lifts himself above the crowd - to the top of the mountain - and makes his mark in the world.

A study of the past can help us understand the present and provide better for the future. This Epilogue, read now and in the future, may well serve the purposes of understanding, and of improving the future. Since change is so much a part of everyday living, it follows that functions of institutions will change. For the campus school, a major change that has taken place is that the student teaching experience in the teacher education program which used to be done there is now done in public schools. Now, the school is involved with pre-student teaching experiences of the college students.

To the staff, for their efforts in bringing to sharp focus the past and present, we say, "Congratulations."

To the members of the graduation class go our best wishes for pleasant memories and fine futures.

The past year has been one of change at Western High. New programs in science and mathematics in-including Physical Science Study Committee Physics and Biological Sciences Curriculum Study Biology were introduced. The latter was offered to one biology class for comparison with the course currently in use. A new geometry text was introduced as well as experimental teaching methods. Under the instruction of two teachers, Mr. Harding and Mr. Taylor, all geometry students were together as a group for a basic lecture at least once a week. At other times the class was divided into two sections.

Nine teachers joined the Western High faculty. They were Miss Betty Bloomfield, fourth grade; Miss Carolyn Colvin, elementary physical education; Mrs. Madolyn Redman, kindergarten assistant; Mrs. Tena Reed, guidance assistant; Miss Lois Thompson, home economics; Mr. John Bohrer, music; Mr. Robert Dornquast, English, dramatics and speech; Mr. Donald Hamilton, physical science; and Mr. Willis Valett, driver's training, a new position at Western High, and boys' physical education.

In the past year an extensive program has been devoted to the Education 201 and 301 students. Laboratory students served as case studies for the 201 observations, while the 301's observed a class and then participated for a week. The student teaching program of the previous years was also continued.

In this Epilogue we have tried to review the past as well as to capture the present. The contrast between the years 1939 and 1964 is definite, yet in a world of rapid change we take comfort in realizing that there is an anchor to which we cling, called tradition.

Western has changed considerably in twenty-five years. However, there is a link between the past and the present in the traditions of the school. Twenty-five years ago the Training School building was new; soon, a new Campus School will be built. When the school moves to the new building, the traditions will go also making a link between all of the students of Western of the past, the present, and the future.
